HOOVER ASSAILS FALSE PROPAGANDA

GARNER RAPS IOWA ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT

EXECUTIVE FORGOT 1928 PROMISES, DEMO CLAIMS

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—John N. Garner, speaker of the house and vice-presidential candidate of the Democrats, replied today to President Hoover's Iowa speech with a statement in which he said "broken promises cannot be explained away."

"Offering no apologies," declared Garner, "I say with all the emphasis at my command that if we judge the promises he now makes in the light of those he has made and failed to fulfill, either his sincerity or his ability to make good his latest pledges is seriously open to question."

The speaker, whose leadership of the house was singled out for particular attack in the president's address, led a group of Democratic spokesmen in issuing criticism. In succession after he gave his written statement to newspapermen, Representative Byrns of Tennessee, Senator Harrison of Mississippi and others gave out through the Democratic national committee fresh broadsides against the Hoover speech.

Claims Inconsistency

Garner charged the president with displaying "the inconsistency that has characterized his entire administration" in the statement that he was using his good offices to prevail on mortgage companies not to foreclose upon homes and farms.

"The president," he said, "vetoed the measure that would have assured farmers the credit necessary to prevent foreclosure. He asserted at that time that it would make the government a pawnbroker, and insisted that loans be extended only to a select clientele. After extending the loans he states that he is now endeavoring to induce those who have secured the millions of government credit to be lenient with the farmers and home owners whose mortgages they hold."

Garner said he was not criticizing the loans to the financial organizations "but it must be obvious that extension of credit to a select few only cannot bring to this country the maximum benefits that should accrue from the release of this great volume of credit."

Farmers and home owners, he asserted, are as much entitled to that credit as any cooperation with equally acceptable collateral.

Senator Harrison said:

"The farmers of the west know that President Hoover's administration has not been friendly to them. It is not higher tariff which the farmers desire, but a tariff readjustment that will place agriculture upon an equality with other industries x x x. They know that the tariff rate on innumerable agricultural products are a sham and a pretense."

Representative Byrns said:

"In other times it may have been possible to gloss over real facts as the president did but today the people because of their own suffering have knowledge of the truth which rhetoric and labored explanations cannot destroy."

Disregarded Bank Failures

He said Mr. Hoover made no mention of 5,000 banks "that have failed during his administration" and added that the president himself "played a part in falsely sustaining and prolonging" the stock market boom which Mr.

Prison Guard and Two Sisters of Convicts Held in Bombing Plot

Detroit, Oct. 5 (AP)—A Michigan state prison guard and two sisters of prison inmates were under arrest tonight as authorities sought to trace the ramifications of what they said was a plot to free the brothers by use of dynamite and firearms.

The prison break, officers said they had learned from correspondence of the women, was planned for Thursday but was postponed because of furore aroused by discovery of an alleged counterfeiting plot within the prison.

Guard Questioned

The guard is Arthur French, who was being questioned tonight at Dearborn. The women are Mary Cross, 26, and Mrs. Agnes Schoonmaker, 27, recently of Minneapolis. The inmates involved in the purported plot are Eddie Cross, serving a 15 to 30 year sentence for robbery, and James Hall, alias Overstreet, said by officers to be a brother of Mrs. Schoonmaker. Overstreet, described by police as a notorious western desperado, is serving a 35-year term for robbing a Mt. Clemens, Mich., bank.

Police said Miss Cross had confessed and furnished details of the dynamite plot, involving French. Police Chief Harry Brooks of Dearborn said he found dynamite and firearms in the residence of the two women, along with letters giving some details of the proposed prison break.

Officers said Miss Cross confessed only after she was confronted by officials from Jackson prison with the information that both she and Mrs. Schoonmaker had brothers in the prison and with the correspondence which had been found.

Woman Confesses

Her confession, as given out by investigators, said:

"On September 10, 1932, I went to Jackson prison to see my brother, Edward Cross. He told me a girl by the name of Agnes Schoonmaker was coming to see me from Minneapolis and would tell me something.

"She came on a Monday in September. That night she stayed with me. The day after she arrived she told me about the dynamite and pistols. I asked her where she got the guns and she said she brought them from Minneapolis. She got the dynamite some place in Ohio, I think Canton. She told me she went to Covington, Ky., but could not get it there.

"She was supposed to put the guns in a suitcase inside the prison. A guard was to hand over the dynamite. She did not tell me how she was to get the package of dynamite inside the prison. This guard was supposed to take her inside the prison as a visitor. There was supposed to be a suitcase inside the prison and the dynamite was to be put in it.

"She was to rent a car and go to Jackson and pick up the two prisoners, James Hall, alias Ellis Overstreet, and Edward Cross, after they had escaped. She wanted me to go with her to the prison but the guard said he could not take me along as I was a frequent visitor and they knew me there and he did not want anyone to see him with me.

"She told me she had received $80 from Jackson, which was sent to her at Minneapolis, but I did not see the money."

Police said Mrs. Schoonmaker would admit nothing and first said the explosives were in the house when she moved in a few days ago. Later she said the dynamite was to have been used to deepen a boat landing at a cottage at Island Lake.

Chief Brooks said a letter found in the house addressed to Cliff Strom, Minneapolis, mentioned that "things are being held up here." He said he had telegraphed Minnesota authorities to arrest Strom for questioning. Strom, he said he understood, is Mrs. Schoonmaker's sweetheart.

The Dearborn chief said he found in the women's home five sticks of dynamite, 10 dynamite caps, a 14-inch fuse, two revolvers, more than 100 rounds of ammunition and a home-made cartridge belt.

French, Cross and Hall were brought to Dearborn tonight in separate automobiles and were met by an armored car, a cruiser filled with detectives and a squad of heavily armed motorcycle patrolmen. They were being questioned by Brooks and Prosecutor Harry S. Toy.

It was through correspondence of the two women with friends in Minneapolis, police said, that the plot was revealed.

COMSTOCK HITS COST OF GOV'T

Democrat Urges Citizens To Forget Lines of Party This Year

Ionia, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—William A. Comstock, Democratic nominee for governor, told audiences in Grand Ledge and Ionia today that the present crisis in governmental affairs makes it incumbent on "good citizens" to forget party lines.

"I speak not as an office seeker nor as a Democrat," he said, "when I say that our chief duty is to put the state back on the track financially. We can't keep on spending more money than we take in without courting ruin. That has been the chief trouble with Michigan."

He said the Republican administration, "unchecked by the powers that were intended to prevail in a two-party system of government have run riot. They wiped out a deficit of $4,500,000 in 1926 by a special legislative appropriation. Today we find the deficit in the state's general fund has reached a new high mark of $13,000,000.

Situation Critical

"We can't save this state by putting it deeper into debt," he continued. "One-party government in Michigan has had its dire consequences and I do not single out the Republicans as the only offenders. One-party government in Democratic Mississippi is just as bad.

"The situation today is too critical to permit of any hair splitting along strict party lines. We know that certain people in power, regardless of party, have so misgoverned us that chaos threatens. We should also know that the quickest way to change this is to place in office an entirely new personnel. There is no other way out.

"Think of the appalling task that will confront the next governor of Michigan. There is the matter of getting rid of the $13,000,000 deficit. There is the duty of relieving taxpayers of the $29,000,000 in proverty assessments levied by the state. It can be done only if we elect officials who will roll up their sleeves and work day and night."

Only Wanted 50c, Bandit Takes $1

Grand Rapids, Oct. 5 (AP)—"Fifty cents is all I want," said a bandit who held up Mrs. R. L. Livermore and Miss Barbara Slade here Wednesday. A dollar bill in Mrs. Livermore's purse was all he found. "I only want 50 cents," he said, "but I suppose I'll have to take the dollar." He took the money and fled.

Youth Admits Taking $700 From Church

Detroit, Oct. 5 (AP)—The prosecutor's office today said that Daniel J. Ruese, 21, had confessed theft of between $700 and $800 from the collections of the Gesu Roman Catholic church over a period of six months. The youth is held pending a decision of church officials on the nature of prosecution.

REP. LINTHICUM

LEADER OF WET BLOC SUCCUMBS

Rep. Linthicum, Maryland Congressman, Dies in Baltimore

Baltimore, Oct. 5. (AP)—Representative J. Charles Linthicum, dean of Maryland's delegation in the house, and nationally known figure in the anti-prohibition ranks, died here today after a brief illness.

The 65-year-old legislator, who was chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, went to the hospital about 12 days ago to receive treatment for a carbuncle, and after an operation remained there for observation for a chronic ailment.

His condition was considered improved until last Saturday when it definitely took a turn for the worse.

Headed Wet Bloc

Beside having been co-author with Representative Beck (R. Pa.) of the first repeal measure to have reached a vote in the house since the prohibition statute was enacted, Linthicum headed the unofficial committee formed by the bloc in the house which planned the strategy of the anti-prohibition members.

The Maryland's chairmanship of the foreign affairs committee, which he was given last session as the Democrats won control of the house, was a reward of his long service with that group. He served continuously in the house for 21 years and was a candidate for reelection from the 4th Maryland district.

Of his many activities in that body, one which his Maryland constituents will long remember, was his sponsorship of the measure which made Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem.

Trains Cancelled Due To Wild Well

Remus, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—A wild gas well which might be ignited by passing trains has caused the cancellation of Pere Marquette trains on the Remus-Wiedman route until it can be brought under control. The railroad right-of-way passes near the well.

Condition Of State Senator Is Worse

Port Huron, Oct. 5 (AP)Physicians reported Wednesday that the condition of State Senator Alex Cowan, seriously ill for several weeks at his home here, was less favorable.

Farmer Prepares For 4th Wedding

Grand Rapids, Oct. 5 (AP)—Ephriam E. Brown, 88, retired Kent county farmer, is preparing for his fourth wedding. This time to Mrs. Mary Dow, 69, of Lakeland, Fla. Brown has filed application for a license. It will be Mrs. Dow's third marriage.

Clare County Bank Plans To Reopen

Clare, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—A committee of depositors reported Wednesday that the required 85 percent of the depositors' signatures to enable reopening of the closed Clare County Savings Bank has been obtained, and final details now are being worked out. No date has been set for the opening.

Bandits Take Safe Containing $500

Jackson, Oct. 5 (AP)—Entering the J. M. Reardon drug store here early Wednesday, two burglars loaded a small safe containing $500 into their automobile and drove away. William Ferguson, who witnessed the theft, was unable to notify police, he said, because he had no telephone.

OFFICERS FLY TO CANADA TO WATCH INSULL

ARRANGEMENTS NOT MADE YET FOR EXTRADITION

BULLETIN

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 5 (AP)—Assistant State's Attorney John Hampton of Illinois left here by automobile for Orilla late tonight to try to persuade Martin Insull to return voluntarily to the United States to face an indictment in connection with investigation of the affairs of the vast Insull interests.

Chicago, Oct. 5 (AP)—Two officers bearing certified copies of the indictments charging Martin J. Insull with larceny and embezzlement of $547,000 flew to Toronto tonight with orders to keep their eyes on Insull.

They could not arrest him, and whether they would bring him back for trial was quite beclouded tonight.

Insull is a British citizen. Only Canadian officers could arrest him on Canadian soil, and the governor of Illinois notified State's Attorney John A. Swanson he would sign no extradition warrant until certain that Cook county would assume the costs. The county board has voted down a $50,000 appropriation asked by the prosecutor, but Swanson still held hopes of loosening the county purse strings through public demand.

Investigation Continued

Insull went to Toronto today from the Orilla, Ont., home he had occupied with his wife since his retirement last spring. Telephone calls to Orilla from Chicago newspapers failed to elicit information as to his plans. Similar inquiries at the Paris residence of Samuel Insull and Samuel, Jr., failed to divulge where they had gone after leaving their apartment early today.

Prosecutor Swanson, learning Martin Insull was in Toronto, telephoned the chief of police there and asked that Insull be kept under surveillance. The chief agreed to do so, although pointing out he had no authority to arrest him.

Having obtained the indictment of the two Insull brothers from larceny and embezzlement in the alleged abstraction of company stocks to pay off personal accounts and in exchanges of stocks and collateral, Swanson called a meeting of Insull stockholders for Thursday night to seek evidence of violation of the state blue sky laws. He will attempt to determine whether Insull companies sold stocks publicly after knowing their companies were insolvent. He said he would inquire of the investors what representations were made when the stock was sold them.

Junk Dealer Gets Sentence Of Life

Flint, Oct. 5 (AP)—Mike Kristella, 54, junk dealer of Flushing, Wednesday was sentenced to serve a life sentence in solitary confinement at hard labor in the Michigan state prison at Jackson following his plea of guilty in circuit court to the slaying April 7 of E. Joseph Czescuk, Flushing grist mill operator. A similar charge against Kristella's son, Anthony, 18, was nolle-prossed when the father exonerated the youth.

The Career of Insull

How Insull Built Stock Pyramid

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of six stories on the dramatic rise and fall of Samuel Insull, Chicago public utility magnate who has been called "the world's greatest failure."

BY ROBERT TALLY
NEA Service Writer
(Copyright 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

Chicago, Oct. 5.—While Thomas A. Edison dabbled with inventions, Samuel Insull sat up nights trying to figure out ways to make money out of the products of the electrical wizard's brain.

Insull was Edison's business manager for 12 years. That's how he got his start.

What the dreamy Edison lacked in the way of business acumen, the aggressive Insull supplied. It was a perfect team. Fifty years later it led Insull to his position as a 73-year old Napoleon of the largest industrial empire the world has ever seen, which has just been climaxed by his failure, the greatest business collapse in history.

It is clear that Insull believed himself a man of destiny. As early as 1916, speaking before a society of Chicago engineers, he pictured one vast super-power electric system for the United States. It was to turn the wheels of all industry, light every home, operate all railroads, rescue the human race from drudgery in every form. Without directly saying so, he made it clear this industrial giant was to be an Insull enterprise.

He had gone far toward this goal. When his collapse came it was possible to buy Insull elec-

Demos Think Al Smith Will Give His Active Support to Roosevelt

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—A threat to unset the Tammany Hall chief, and a belief in Democratic quarters that the way has been paved for "Al" Smith to take up the cudgels in Governor Roosevelt's presidential drive stood out tonight as results of New York Democracy's dramatic convention.

High spirits reigned in the Roosevelt-Garner camp, as campaign leaders returned from Albany with memories of the hand-clasping scene which marked the first meeting of Smith and Roosevelt since before their Chicago fight.

On the heels of their joint victory in winning the gubernatorial nomination for Herbert H. Lehman, came reports the two leaders stand together in opposing the possible nomination of James J. Walker for the mayoralty post he relinquished while ouster proceedings were being heard by Governor Roosevelt.

Smith Non-Committal

While hope grew in the states known as Smith strongholds that the 1928 standard bearer would now agree to make some campaign speeches, Smith himself smiled and said nothing.

His associates indicated he would wait for Roosevelt himself to invite him to become an active campaigner.

At Albany the governor said he had not yet taken up the question of inviting Smith to speak for him in his campaign for the presidency.

At Democratic national headquarters there were no announcements about any Smith speaking engagements, either tentative or definite. Various national party leaders, however, said they anticipated that Roosevelt might ask Smith to do some stumping.

New York Democrats, recalling that Calvin Coolidge will speak in Madison Square Garden next Tuesday, were talking of the possibility of getting Smith as the headliner for their rally in the vast "Garden."

Smith and James A. Farley, Roosevelt-Garner campaign director, returned from Albany on the same train. They said, regarding a chat they had had, that it was "merely personal."

As they separated at the station, Farley said:

"I was very happy to see former Governor Smith take the position he did, and assume such a prominent position in bringing about the nomination of his great friend, Mr. Lehman."

Smith, wearing his famous brown derby, said, when asked for a statement:

"It's all in the papers."

Out of the tangled situation resulting from Tammany's unsuccessful fight to block Lehman's nomination, came these reports, which were neither definitely denied nor confirmed:

1. That a definite move was under way within Tammany ranks to replace as leader John F. Curry, who, in private conferences led the fight against Lehman nomination.

2. That Smith was being considered by some leaders as possible organization candidate for mayor, if an election in November is ordered by the court of appeals.

3. That Joseph V. McKee, Walker's successor and a non-Tammany Democrat, is growing in strength as a possible fusion candidate, if not nominated by the Democrats.

A citywide convention tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden, to which there will be 32,075 delegates, will bring the only definite denial or confirmation of the last two reports.

As to the first, Smith, it was learned authoritatively tonight, was definitely offered, in one of the Tammany conferences at Albany, the nomination as U. S. senator if he would withdraw his support of Lehman.

His answer was two-fold: That he was for Lehman "in spite of everything," and that he was "not a candidate for any public office at present."

FOUR DROWNED AS SHIP SINKS

3 Men and Woman Trapped Under Hatches Of Lake Boat

Erie, Pa., Oct. 5 (AP)—In a heavy sea that sent walls of water over the decks, the John J. Boland, Jr., a Canadian freighter, sank in Lake Erie today with three men and a woman reported trapped under her hatches.

Fifteen men, other members of the crew, took to the lifeboats and rode the heavy waves safely to a point near Dunkirk, N. Y. The Boland carried no passengers and was manned by an all-Canadian crew.

The woman reported lost is the second cook, a Miss Mac Intyre of Welland, Ont. Two oilers, S. Brooks of Windsor, Ont., and Harry Jobes, of St. Catherine, Ont., and a fireman whose name was not obtained, also were reported drowned.

Captain Survives

A rudder broke and the ship wallowed after leaving Erie at 3 a. m., with a cargo of coal. The Boland was owned by the Sarina Steamship Company, Ltd., of Canada.

The captain, E. C. Hammond, of Sarnia, Ontario, was among the survivors.

First Mate M. Smith, of Windsor, Ont., Chief Engineer William Byers, of St. Catherines, Ont., and Mrs. Smith, wife of the first mate, also reached shore safely. The 11 others went by bus from Runkirk to Buffalo, N. Y., and their names were not obtained here.

Captain Hammond told Dr. Carlton A. Hest in his office at Westfield, N. Y., that he and the other three narrowly escaped death as their lifeboat was pounded against rocks on their way to shore.

He said the 11 others battled their way to safety on logs and reached shore at Bourne's Beach, near Westfield.

"Our craft sank in less than four minutes," Captain Hammond said.

Iron Mountain Man Gets Judgement Of $6,000 In Court

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—A judgment of $6,000 was awarded by a jury in United States district court this afternoon to Louis Alimenti, of Iron Mountain, in his $100,000 damage suit against the Ford Motor company as the result of alleged disability Alimenti claims to have sustained while working in an oil dipping room at the company's Iron Mountain plant.

Closing arguments in the case brought a mild clash between Herbert J. Rushton, of Escanaba, counsel for the defense, and Ray Derham, of Iron Mountain, plaintiff's lawyer, over the conduct of Dr. William S. Schlei, witness for the plaintiff who has been cited for contempt of court, as he is said to have been intoxicated when on the witness stand.

Before arguments were presented to the jury, Rushton asked for a directed verdict in favor of the Ford Motor company on the grounds that the litigation was not a common law action. The motion was denied by Judge Fred M. Raymond.

Retired Farmer Is Burned To Death

PLEASED WITH RECEPTION OF IOWA ADDRESS

PRESIDENT CLAIMS SYMPATHY WITH SUFFERERS

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

On Board Presidential Special Enroute to Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—In self-termed hard words, President Hoover today denounced as "deliberate, intolerable falsehoods" what he said were widespread personal misrepresentations promulgated in the midwest in the past few weeks.

Surrounded by a crowd that pushed and shoved toward him as he spoke over the radio from the rear platform of his special train at Fort Wayne, Ind., the president said he believed sportsmanship and statesmanship called for the elimination of harsh personalities between opponents.

The speech was the chief executives' first since he left Des Moines last night where he said a national victory had been achieved over economic difficulties and declared that enactment of the "Democratic program" would "end hope of recovery." Without naming the "opponents" to whom he referred today, the president told his Fort Wayne audience:

Denies He's Unsympathetic

"On this journey, however, I have received a multitude of reports as to the widespread personal misrepresentations which have been promulgated in the mid-west in the past few weeks. I regret that the character of these personalities necessitates a direct word from me.

"I shall say now the only harsh word that I have uttered in public office I hope it will be the last I shall have to say.

"When you are told that the president of the United States, who by the most sacred trust of our nation is the president of all the people, a man of your own blood and upbringing, has sat in the White House for the last three years of your misfortune without troubling to know your burdens, without heartaches over your miseries and casualties; without summoning every avenue of skillful assistance irrespective of party or view, without using every ounce of his strength and straining his every nerve to protect and help, without using every possible agency of democracy that would bring aid, without putting aside personal ambition and humbling his pride of opinion if that would serve—then I say to you that such statements are deliberate intolerable falsehoods."

Fort Wayne was the first of a series of stops made by the president on his way through Indiana and Ohio toward the national capital where he will arrive tomorrow morning.

Governor Leslie of Indiana boarded the train at Chicago to accompany the president and Mrs. Hoover through the Hoosier state.

One of the president's secretaries told newspapermen on the train today that the chief executive was "tickled to death" at the twelve policies for the relief of agriculture. The president's aide said Mr. Hoover had received a batch of telegrams commending him on the Des Moines address.

The president himself in the Fort Wayne speech referred to the western reception with appreciation.

Will Fight to Finish

Regarding the many receptions on this trip and in the reception in Des Moines yesterday, he said:

"I see a rising resolution and a stern determination to fight to a finish for the continuation of constructive action in this emergency and for the preservation of funda-

D. A. R. Makes Only One Change When Picking Officers

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—Michigan Daughters of the American Revolution re-elected all but one of their officers and changed the time of the annual meeting from October to March in business sessions of their thirty-second annual convention here today.

The only change in officers was election of Mrs. O. W. Laidlow, of Tecumseh, as state historian to succeed Mrs. William Latham, of Kalamazoo.

Other officers re-elected are: Mrs. J. H. McDonald, Ypsilanti, regent; Mrs. G. B. Schermerhorn, Reading, vice regent; Miss Katherine Weeks, Mt. Clemens, chaplain; Mrs. Lynn T. Miller, Ithaca, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Helen Barker Rowe, Grand Rapids, recording secretary; Mrs. William C. Geagley, Lansing, treasurer; Mrs. Edward J. Savage, Detroit, registrar; and Mrs. H. S. Gray, Benton Harbor, and Mrs. H. C. Brooks, Marshall, directors.

Ubl's Condition Reported Worse

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5 (AP)—The condition of Myron Ubl, University of Minnesota halfback, was reported worse today at the University hospital where he is gravely ill with pneumonia.

A bulletin said:

"Mr. Ubl rested fairly well during the night but his heart action is weaker than yesterday, which indicates his condition is worse. He is still in the oxygen tank which gives him considerable relief."

Ubl's illness followed an injury received in football practice.

A Ready Market For Your Used Car

Many people sell their car over the winter period and are prospects for used cars in the Spring. Now is a good time to advertise a used car if you want to dispose of what you have. If you have a new car in mind, advertise the old one for sale. Someone may want the car you are driving and a prospect is found overnight, and the cost is so nominal.

BANKERS SEEK LOWER TAXES

Also Attack Government For Public Loan Conditions

Los Angeles, Oct. 5 (AP)—The American Bankers Association turned criticism today on financial conduct of the government, calling, in speech and resolution, for a correction of public loan and taxation conditions.

Resolutions adopted by the fifty-eighth convention of the bankers, while pointing in defenite language to signs of business improvement, denounced excessive governmental borrowing and excessive taxation by national, state and municipal governments as "a menace to agriculture, industry, trade and transportation that is almost beyond measure."

"The association therefore goes on record before the people of this country," the resolutions read, "as insistently demanding the reduction of public expenditures, and as being unalterably opposed to the continuation of the present high rates of taxation and the progressive piling up of the public debt."

Wilfred W. Fry of Philadelphia, president of the N. W. Ayer Advertising Agency, in a convention speech defended the nationnal administration, congress and the country's bankers from charges of responsibility for the economic upset.

Report Improvement

The "better times" resolution adopted said that "for the first time during this long depression we are able to record definite signs of business improvement," urged, besides reduction of public expenditures, greater protection of national bank shares from excessive taxation and opposed governmental guaranty of bank deposits.

The section devoted to governmental costs said:

"It is probable that taxes levied against the people of the United States in 1932 will amount to thirty cents on every earned dollar.

"Careful compilations indicate that one person in every ten of our population is on some public payroll.

"Great governmental expenditures beyond necessity or desirability have been induced and are being advocated by organized minorities seeking their own selfish advantage.

"It is not conceivable that these conditions ca nlong continue without leading to progressive disintegration of business, and resulting in tremendous unemployment."

By automatic promotion, Francis H. Sisson, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York, became the president of the association, rising from the vice presidency to succeed Harry J. Haas of Philadelphia.

Frank M. Law, president of the First National Bank of Houston, Texas, was promoted from the second to the first vice presidency, and Rudolph S. Hecht, president of the Hibernia Bank and Turst Company of New Orleans became second vice president.

mentals in our government. That is a mission for every one of you individually."

At Crestline, Ohio, where the presidential train was greeted by a crowd of several hundred that had waited an hour and a half, Mr. Hoover appeared on the rear platform and in answer to cries of "speech, speech," said:

"I see some evidence right here in your own community of what we have been trying to do. The Reconstruction Finance corporation has advanced money to the Pennsylvania railroad to put more men to work in its shops."

Three large bouquets of flowers were presented to Mrs. Hoover.

During the trip across Ohio, the crowds at some of the stations pressed so closely to the train that newspapermen found it difficult to climb back aboard. At an unscheduled stop at Upper Sandusky, the president again expressed appreciation for "the heartening and cordial way the people of Ohio have received us during the last three or four hours."

At Bucyrus he spoke similarly when welcomed by a crowd and a band.

At Canton local police estimated the station gathering at 15,000. Nearby streets were jammed and police struggled to keep those close to the train from being crushed.

There were cheers and calls of "speech, speech." Two radio men climbed aboard and handed the president a microphone connected with a local station.

"You are making a speech to me, a speech of encouragement and affection," Mr. Hoover said. "I value that deeply.

"This is the home of the beloved William McKinley. It was just 36 years ago that President McKinley fought the same issues we are fighting today and he fought under less stress and duress than we are today. Canton gave McKinley its full measure of support and I am greatly encouraged by the warmth of your welcome today."

As the train moved out, a man near the rear platform held up a small boy and called: "Ask him about the horns."

Speech Applauded

At Alliance, [illegible] of the train in Ohio, a man giving his name as F. C. Talbot edged his way to the side of the presidential car.

"I have always voted the Democratic ticket," he said, "but I am going to vote for you in November."

The president shook his hand and smiled.

At Sweickley, Pa., President and Mrs. Hoover chatted informally with a small group standing in the rain. When the president indicated he was not going to make a speech, a man in the crowd replied: "You said enough last night." This brought cries from others of "Great speech," and "We wish you God speed."

The crowd called for Mrs. Hoover, who was standing in the background. She looked at a little boy who was being held up in the crowd and said:

"You are awfully little to be out on a wet night. Little boys will go home and get on warm sweaters, won't they."

The president and first lady then discussed the weather with the group, and expressed surprise that it had rained in Sweickley all day.

A group of Allegheny county Republican leaders boarded the train into Pittsburgh.

Bits of Cheer in Business

Martin's Ferry, O., Oct. 5 (AP)—Four hundred men have returned to work at the Laughlin Sheet Mill of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, which has resumed operations, after being idle a month. With 75 per cent of its normal force of 1,400 men, the Laughlin Tinplate plant of the United States Steel Corporation will open next Monday. It has been idle two months.

Carlyle, Ill., Oct. 5 (AP)—A 24-hour daily operating schedule will be put into effect Oct. 15 when the Carlyle Paper company reopens with about 80 men, W. P. Rinkel, vice - president, announced. The plant has been closed since May 15.

Chicago, Oct. 5 (AP)—Postal receipts in Chicago continued upward during September, being only 6.18 per cent under September a year ago. In August receipts were 6.66 per cent under August, 1931. Monthly receipts averaged from 14 to 21 per cent under the same months in 1931 before August.

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Shoe production in the United States took a big rise in August, manufacturers turning out 10,-000,-000 more pairs than in July. The department of commerce announced the August figure of 30,-717,759 pairs, as compared to 20,442,068 in July, was the high for the year.

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—An increase to 1,499,459,000 kilowatt hours from 1,490,863,000 the week previous, was reported in electric power production in the United States last week. In 1931 and 1930 the last week in September had shown a decrease, in contrast to the gain this year.

Chicago, Oct. 5 (AP)—Rand-McNally company report that during the week ended today bank suspensions were 34.6 per cent fewer than the previous week. The total was 17, compared with 154 the asme period in 1931.

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—A 50 per cent increase in production of oil furnaces at its Pittsfield, Mass., plant was announced by the General Electric company. The increase in output will continue until early in 1933.

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—"The Iron Age" today reported a production rise in the steel industry to slightly above 18 per cent of the country's capacity compared to 17½ per cent last week; a gain of 15.4 per cent in the daily average rate of pig iron output for September over August, and the "probability" that unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation, as of Sept. 30, might show an increase of as much as 100,000 tons.

ALLOCATE 227 NEW BUILDINGS

Postoffice in Gladstone Will Be Constructed By Government

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Two hundred and twenty-seven cities and towns throughout the country today were allocated new postoffices under the building provisions of the Garner-Wagner relief law.

Eight places in Michigan were included in the list: Allegan, Fremont, Gladstone, Hancock, Monroe, Negaunee, Plymouth, St. Johns and Zeeland. In the case of all except Monroe, St. Johns and Zeeland, leases expire before July 1, 1934, and the buildings must be constructed before that time.

The list, made up almost exclusively of buildings to cost less than $100,000, brought the total so far allotted to be spent for postoffices under that bill to $84,-872,600, divided among 410 communities. Previously the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general, who made today's announcement, had allocated 41 buildings costing more than $300,000 each and 142 structures costing between $100,000 and $300,000.

Cut Rems 10%

The relief measure allotted $100,000,000 for this construction but under the economy law, Comptroller General McCarl ruled that each item must be cut ten percent, limiting the entire expenditure to $90,000,000. Today's announcement said a small number of cities still are under consideration for new buildings, and that as soon as sufficient data is available "a supplementary statement will be issued authorizing as many of these projects as can be justified."

Forty-four states and one territory, Alaska, were covered in today's allocation. New York State received the most, 24, and Pennsylvania received 23. California was allocated 17. Ohio and New Jersey received 14 apiece and Massachusetts 13. Texas and Michigan were given nine each, Wisconsin drew eight, and Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and Missouri were allotted six each.

All the construction undertaken under the relief law is part of the $700,000,000 long-time government construction program. To furnish employment the program has been speeded up during the last few years so that $450,000,-000 has been undertaken, exclusive of the amount under the present bill.

Tonnage Through Canals Announced

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 5, (AP)—A total of 3,806,720 short tons of freight passed through the canals at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Ontario during September, according to a report today from Maj. R. C. Crawford, of the army engineer's office.

The bulk of the freight passed through the United States canal, a total of 3,552,757 being registered for the Michigan Sault, as compared with 253,963 for the Ontario canal.

A total of 1,282 vessels, with registered tonnage of 3,039,905 passed through the two canals during the month. The bulk of the freight was carried on eastbound vessels.

The September tonnage was 800,000 tons greater than the total August freight of 3,095,319 tons but only half the September tonnage of 1931. Total freight for 1932 up to Oct. 1 was 13,464,466 compared with 35,194,104 for the corresponding period last year. Wheat shipments in September of 44,166,679 bushels were almost double those of August. Iron ore shipments this year to Oct. 1 were 2,434,596 against 20,493,405 last year.

Many Praise Hoover Talk In Des Moines

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—While President Hoover was speeding home from Des Moines, scene of his first campaign address, the White House tonight made public nearly a score of telegrams congratulating the chief executive.

Quotations from the messages follow:

From Senator Arthur Capper, Topeka, Kans.: "No political utterance this year has been received with such emphatic approval by the people of Kansas as this one."

Sherman Lowell, former master of the National Grange, Syracuse, N. Y.: "Your address on farm problems at Des Moines and your program for solving these problems is everlastingly right and sound."

Frank J. Riley, secretary, New York state Grange, Sennett, N. Y.: "Every thinking farmer will support your broad and sound reconstruction program for farm and home."

Silas H. Strawn, Chicago: "Your frank, splendid and courageous address . . . should convince every thoughtful citizen of the vital necessity of continuing your leadership in carrying out the constructive program you have initiated."

B. E. Hutchinosn, of the Chrysler corporation, Detroit: "A continuation of such vigorous and obviously sound statements on Republican policy and purposes will bring victory to you and the party in November."

Joseph Scott, Los Angels: "Now you've told them and believe me the reverberations of your corking aggressive speech will warm your supporters and hearten the country generally more than anything else you have ever done."

F. H. Farnsworth, Chicago: "As a farmer in the corn belt of Illinois for the past fifteen years, accept my heartiest congratulations and support."

E. A. Van Valkenburg, Philadelphia: "It was a mighty speech, courageous, clarifying and convincing."

Herbert L. Satterlee, New York City: "It was just exactly what was needed in the campaign and will do you as much good in the east as in the farm belt."

Grant C. Hitchings, Nedrow, N. Y.: "After listening to your speech last night I am convinced you thoroughly understand both the needs of the farmers as well as of other business men and are doing the right thing to hasten prosperity."

Thomas H. Munro, chairman of the council of agriculture and markets of New York state, Syracuse: "New York state farmers . . . have received no effective help during the past year from their own chief executive. They will recognize from your address at Des Moines that in you they have a leader upon whom they can depend fully . . ."

Herbert Kaufman, Tarrytown, N. Y.: "Your Des Moines speech was an economic Gettysburg address conceived in all the brave simplicity that was essentially Lincoln's."

Present Program At Holy Name Society

The program presented at the meeting of the Holy Name society last evening follows:

FARM PICKETS ACTIVE AGAIN

New Impetus Given to Strike in Mid-West States

Des Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 5, (AP)—New impetus was given a middle western farmers' strike for better prices today, after the cost-of-production movement had been quiescent several weeks.

In southwestern South Dakota adherents of the national farmers holiday association were preparing to invoke a strong blockade, they said, of roads into Sioux Falls, in an attempt to keep grain and livestock from markets.

Near Estherville, Iowa, a peaceful strike was in progress, but H. N. Jensen, secretary of the Emmett county holiday association, said that while "there may be picketing in this county, the kind of picketing we advocate will be friendly."

Meanwhile, Milo Reno of Des Moines, president of the national association said he was going to Canby, Minn., to investigate the fatal shooting of Nordahl Peterson, 25, a farmer and strike picket.

Will Renew Blockade

Ole Anderson, 55, and son son, Leonard, 19, were said late today by Sheriff Martin F. Fitzner of Granite Falls, to have confessed responsibility for the killing near Canby Tuesday night.

More than 100 farmers in Minnehaha county, South Dakota, established picket lines across three highways into Sioux Falls today and began halting produce and livestock trucks bound for markets.

They lifted the blockade a few hours, but declared it would be set up again tomorrow.

Reno declared his organization has never sanctioned picketing as a means of preventing produce from reaching market. He said it was "one of those things incidental to a movement of this kind" and advocated carrying "our work back to the individual farmer at his home and convince him that our movement is practical."

The Minnehaha county farmers said they would patrol all sixteen highways into Sioux Falls tomorrow. Today they were stationed about a mile from the city limits and were equipped with cables, timbers, and rubber belting into which spikes had been driven.

Mother Gives Life For Child

Menominee, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Walter Manske of Milwaukee, the former Laura Garcinski of Ingalls, to whom a child was born on Tuesday, died this morning at 4 o'clock in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Garcinski, five miles east of Ingalls. The baby is expected to survive.

Mrs. Manske was born 26 years ago in East St. Louis, Ill., and besides her husband and baby, is survived by her parents, and four sisters, Mrs. Otto Bang, Milwaukee; Mrs. Robert Woessner, Stephenson; Josephine and Helen Garcinski, Ingalls.

The body was brought to the Larson mortuary in this city pending the arrival of Mr. Manske, who is enroute to this city from Milwaukee.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Girls Need Jobs—Unless they receive some kind of employment to pay for their board and room, several girl students will have to quit high school. Anyone able to provide work for these students is asked to notify Miss Irma Bangs, dean of girls at the Escanaba Senior high school, phone 706.

Mrs. McMonagle Is Taken By Death

Mrs. Catherine McMonagle passed away at her home, 806 So. 16th street, at 12 o'clock last evening after a lengthy illness, caused by nervous breakdown. She was a resident of this city for many years.

She is survived by one daughter, Matie, and three sons, Bernard and Harry of Escanaba and Ray of Minneapolis.

The body was taken to the Ailo funeral home for burial preparation but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

She was a member of St. Patrick's church and of the Degree of Honor.

tricity in 32 states, in 5000 cities, towns and villages from Maine to Texas. In point of capital investment and distribution, he was the largest producer of electricity in the world. Gradually, he was linking his plants together. Always, he was expanding. Finally he was stopped. But it took the worst business depression in history to do it.

Markets Edison's Gadgets

Insull's rise in life is a story of a purposeful character. Born in London of a middle-class English family, he became an office boy in an auctioneer's office at 14 at a salary of $1.25 a week and improved himself by studying shorthand and bookkeeping at home. Eventually he got a job with Edison's London representative. Impressed by the boy's ability and his determination to succeed, this agent recommended him for a position as Edison's secretary. So, in 1881, Insull came to America to take up his new job.

Edison soon discovered that instead of a mere secretary he had a first-class business manager. This aggressive young Englishman began organizing companies to manufacture and market Edison's strange gadgets. Among the enterprises was the old Edison Electric Co., parent of today's General Electric Company.

In 1892, death claimed the president of the old Chicago Edison Company, one of the five electric companies trying to compete with Chicago's gas lights and horse-drawn street cars. Young Insull was asked to recommend a man. He chose himself.

By 1907 Insull had consolidated Chicago's five independent electric companies into his own monopolistic Commonwealth Edison Company.

Insull's next big step came in 1911 when he bought and linked together the scattered electric plants in a number of small towns surrounding Chicago, under the name of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. This was the world's first interconnected super-power system.

An Empire Takes Form

The following year Insull's dream of empire began to take form. He launched the vast Middle West Utilities, a two-billion-dollar holding company around which he planned to build his super-power chain that would span the nation. (How well he progressed may be judged by the fact that when Middle West went into the hands of receivers recently it was a $2,000,-000,000 concern with plants in 32 states.)

In 1918, Insull added gas to his holdings. He took over Chicago's old People's Gas Co., then approaching bankruptcy. Things had reached the point where dealers would not deliver a ton of coal to the company without getting a guarantee of payment from a bank.

Insull dug in. He ordered all complaints routed over his desk. He investigated each personally. He hired and fired. Eventually, he got what he wanted. By 1922 the reorganized People's Gas Light & Coke Company was paying substantial dividends. It has since been one of his soundest companies.

Acquisition and expansion of operating companies required more capital. Insull began stacking holding companies on top of holding companies and selling their stocks for capital. Always Insull kept enough of the common stock—voting stock—to retain control.

Gradually more than 100 holding companies, in various geographical groups, came under the span of Insull's vast Middle West Utilities.

Company Upon Company

The ultimate holding company was far removed from the operating companies. For example, the Scranton (Pa.) Street Railway was owned by the Municipal Service Company, which was owned by the National Public Service Corporation, which was owned by the National Electric Power Company, which was owned by Middle West Utilities.

Then, on top of this lofty pyramid, Insull erected two super-super-holding companies, which were to own Middle West Utilities and his other major holding companies. They were Insull Utility Investments and Corporation Securities, Inc.

In all of these Insull sold securities. So long as prices of public utilities securities were rising, and more and more people were using current, and more and more people had money to invest, there was no limit to this method of expansion.

It was a dizzy game, but the bull market boom was on and the sky was the limit. In September, 1929, Insull stocks had increased in value over a half billion dollars in just 50 days.

Issues doubled, trebled and quadrupled in value almost overnight. For example, between June 15 and Aug. 3, 1929, Commonwealth Edison soared from $256 to $449 a share. This represented a gain in stock market value of $250,032,600 on this one issue in just 19 days.

His Warnings Fail

This sort of skyrocketing was too much even for Insull. Time after time he issued public warnings against "unwarranted and unjustified" prices of Insull securities.

But Insull might as well have been talking to the wind. The "wise ones" laughed at his warning, saying Insull wanted to beat down prices so he could make millions by buying in the stock himself. The giddy game went on. Public Service of Northern Illinois hit $435. People's Gas touched $404. Middle West Utilities soared to $570, after which there was a 10-for-1 split.

Thus, when 1930 dawned, Samuel Insull could look back on this record of the expansion of his empire since his arrived in Chicago:

1892 — Capital, $1,130,300; Gross earnings, $873,000; Customers, 4,440; Stockholders, 50; Employes, 400.

1930—Capital, $2,216,441,000; Gross earnings, $439,581,000; Customers, 4,557,800; Stockholders, 498,300; Employes, 72,800.

And his empire was still growing.

But the Day Came

One of Samuel Insull's favorite stories about himself, which he liked to tell at banquets, had to do with the installation of a huge steam turbine at his old Fisk street power house in 1903. It was then the largest steam turbine in the world and, naturally, there was quite a bit of worry about what was going to happen.

When the time came to turn on the steam, Frederick Sargent, the installation engineer, turned to Insull and suggested that he had better get out.

"It it going to blow up?" Insull asked.

"I don't think so," answered Sargent, rather uncertainly.

"Well," Insull replied, "if this thing blows up the whole company will blow up and I'll blow up, too, so I might as well stay here."

There came a day, in 1932, when not only one Insull company but a whole chain of them blew up—and Samuel Insull blew up with them.

How and why that happened will be told tomorrow.

GARNER RAPS IOWA ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT

Hoover said "had weakened our own economic structure."

Senator Swanson of Virginia said:

"I think yesterday was a gala day for democracy. Instead of being injured by President Hoover's speech Democratic success was greatly strengthened by it."

He added that for political significance the Iowa speech overshadowed by the reunion of Governor Roosevelt and former Governor Smith last night at Albany.

Before making the statement that the president's ability to fulfill his pledges was open to question, Garner observed that "utmost respect is due" Mr. Hoover as president but that as a candidate "his acts of omission as well as commission are subjects for legitimate criticism."

He said he was only echoing the opinions of men and women in both parties and all walks of life.

"It is regrettable, yet true," he said, "that the section hand, the clerk, the little business man, the farmer, the great executive, the railroad magnate and even the big financier have, reluctantly perhaps, reached the conclusion that promises bearing Mr. Hoover's imprint have often been made either to be studiously disregarded or, to put it charitably, overlooked."

B. E. F. REJECTS SECOND MARCH

Committee to Represent Organization at Washington

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 5 (AP)—The bonus expeditionary force today voted to let a committee personally carry demands for "public recognition" to Washington after the executive committee turned down a suggestion for another march on the capital if the demands are not yet.

Meeting in a dimly-lighted warehouse, with rain pelting the roof and locomotive whistles sometimes drowning out voices of the delegates, the convention went on record in favor of "immediate payment of adjusted compensation certificates."

The suggestion for another march on Washington came from the floor and was greeted with a thunderous ovation. This incident sent the executive committee back into session but after an hour's debate it was decided not to sponsor such a proposal. Instead, Hoke Smith, national field officer, will head a committee of ten to present the organization's demands to President Hoover, vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner.

The committee will go to Washington immediately after the national convention of the organization here is ended.

In the petition to be presented at Washington was also a demand that there be no legislation introduced "that will reduce veterans' allowances in any way, namely in hospitalization or rehabilitation."

The convention approved a resolution censuring President oover "and those of your administration who took part in the eviction of the B. E. F. from Washington on July 28 and 29, 1932."

NOLDEN RITES TO BE FRIDAY

Escanaba Man Was Once Star Pitcher in Big Leagues

Funeral services for Peter (Buck) Nolden, 53, veteran baseball star, who died late Tuesday night, will be held at St. Patrick's church 9 o'clock Friday morning, with Rev. Fr. John Mockler officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mr. Nolden was born in Escanaba Aug. 7, 1869. He attended St. Joseph's school, following which he embarked upon his baseball career. While still in his teens, his pitching performances with Escanaba attracted the attention of organized baseball. He joined the Green Bay club in the Wisconsin-Illinois league, and later went to Sheboygan and Duluth, where he had highly successful seasons. The next step in his climb to baseball fame was on the Pacific coast with the Seattle club, and from there went to the Chicago White Sox in 1909.

An arm injury, however, after only a few weeks with the Sox, ended the southpaw's career in the major league, and he was farmed out to Decatur in the Three-Eye league. While with Decatur, the club won the pennant three times. Mr. Nolden quit professional baseball about 1913, and returned to Escanaba to take employment with the Swift company. For several years, however, he played at first base and in the pitching box for the Escanaba ball club.

The body of Mr. Nolden was removed from the Allo Funeral Home to the residence, 219 North Fifteenth street, last night.

Mr. Nolden was a member of the United Commercial Travelers and the Holy Name society. Besides his widow, he is survived by a son, Marveil; six brothers, John, Joseph, Louis, Frank and George of Escanaba; Caspar of Two Harbors, Minn., and three sisters, Mrs. Joe Rudder, Mrs. Byron Andrews, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Carrie Holm, Detroit. All out-of-town relatives, with the exception of Mrs. Holm, will come here to attend the funeral.

Corps To Parade Friday Evening

Another pep parade, calling attention to the Escanaba Rangers-Iron Mountain football game scheduled for next Sunday, will be staged Friday evening at 7:30 by the Escanaba American Legion drum and bugle corps.

Members of the corps will meet at the city hall at 7:30 and will lead the procession up and down Ludington street. They will also appear Sunday afternoon at the game, which is sponsored by the local American Legion post.

ROOSEVELT, BACK FROM U. S. SWING, STEPS INTO HOME STATE'S POLITICAL AFFRAY

Back in Albany after an arduous but "thoroughly satisfactory" three weeks' campaign tour, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt launched himself immediately into the hot political fight in New York state. Here you see him and Mrs. Roosevelt as he left his train with Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman, whom he is backing against the opposition of Tammany Hall for the Democratic nomination for governor. Roosevelt had defied the Tammany organization with a threat of open warfare over the choice of a leader for the state ticket.

Peninsula Potato Growers Hoping to Win State Honors

Continued high yields of potatoes in the Premier Grower Contest are reported by D. L. Clanahan, farm crops specialist for the Michigan State College. The contest is a feature of the Fourth Upper Peninsula Potato, Hay and Grain Show, to be held at Newberry, October 18, 19 and 20.

"Of the 20 growers in the contest whose yields have been checked, only five average below 400 bushels to the acre," says Mr. Clanahan. "The highest yield is almost 600 bushels per acre and the lowest 335 bushels." These yields are all on fields of three acres or more, since a grower must have that amount to enter the contest.

The state contest requires that a grower have five acres or more, according to Mr. Clanahan. "We have high hopes of again winning the state contest," he adds, "but it may not be the man who wins the Upper Peninsula contest."

The method of checking yields is described by Mr. Clanahan as digging ten accurately measured rod rows in different parts of the field, weighing the tubers dug, and computing the yield taking into consideration width between rows. It is the same method used in Lower Michigan and other states. All potatoes in the area dug are carefully saved so yield is often higher than actually obtained by the grower because of the loss in field digging and culling out the undersized and injured tubers.

"These high yields show the result of improvement in practices as advocated by extension workers and other education agencies such as the potato show," declares Mr. Clanahan. "The growers obtaining such yields are finding a very low cost of production. They are either cerified seed growers or growers of high quality table stock that will sell for a premium, so will make a profit from their operations even with present low prices for potatoes."

Pleas Entered By Escanaba Men In U. S. District Court

Three Delta county residents were among those arraigned before Judge Fred M. Raymond in federal court at Marquette this week on liquor law violation charges. A total of 49 were arraigned on prohibition charges, and only 11 entered pleas of not guilty. Pleas entered by respondents from this district were as follows:

Anton Schils, Escanaba, not guilty of possession and maintaining a nuisance.

Clifton B. (Kip) Bartley, Escanaba, guilty of possession and maintaining a nuisance, sale count nolle prossed.

Melvin Cardinal, Rapid River, guilty of sale, possession and maintaining a nuisance.

Fred P. Beaudin, Newberry, not guilty of manufacture, possession and maintaining a nuisance.

Edward B. Harrington, Newberry, nute, plea of not guilty entered to charges of manufacture, possession and possession of a still.

Ballot Boxes Get Room At the Jail

Until legal questions are settled and the recount of ballots cast for Republican candidates for probate judge is resumed, the ballot boxes from the seven township precincts of Delta county are reposing under lock and key, behind triple-locked doors in the Delta county jail.

The ballot boxes were brought in by township election officials when the recount was started Tuesday morning. Rather than return them and have them brought back again, the board of canvassers took charge of the boxes and had them locked up in an unused cellblock in the jail. Three keys are necessary to get the ballot boxes out, and these keys are held separately by members of the board.

TIPS ARE GIVEN VOTERS NOV. 8

Instructions Issued This Year are Amplified And Clarified.

Instructions to voters issued by the department of state this year, are greatly amplified over those issued in previous years. The following instructions are being sent to county election officials and will be displayed at the polling places prior to the November election:

1. If you desire to vote a straight ticket, make a cross in the circle under the name of your party at the head of the ballot. Nothing further need be done.

2. If you desire to vote for a candidate not on your party ticket where only one candidate is to be elected to an office, make a cross in the circle under your party name and mark a cross in the square before the name or names of the candidate for whom you desire to vote on the other ticket. In such case it shall not be necessary to strike off the name of the candidate on your party ticket.

3. Where two or more candidates are to be elected to the same or like office and you desire to vote for a candidate or candidates not on your party ticket, make a cross in the circle under your party name and mark a cross in the square before the name or names of the candidate or candidates for whom you desire to vote on the other ticket or tickets, and also erase an equal number of names of the candidates for such office on your party ticket.

4. If you wish to vote for a candidate not on any ticket, write or place the name of such candidate on your ticket, opposite the name of the office and make a cross in the circle under the party name.

5. A ticket marked with a cross under a party name shall be deemed a vote for each of the candidates named in such party column whose name is not erased or crossed off, except those candidates where a cross is placed in the square before the name of some opposing candidate on the opposing ticket, or when there is written or pasted on the party ticket a name which is not printed on the party ticket: Provided, that at the general November election in each presidential year the cross in the circle under the party name shall not be deemed as a direct vote for the candidates of the particular political party for president and vice-president of the United States, but, in addition to being a vote for each of the candidates for state, congressional, legislative and county offices named in such party column shall be deemed and taken to be a vote for the entire list of electors chosen by such political party.

6. If the name of any person who is not a candidate on any ticket is written or placed on a party ticket opposite the name of the office and there is a cross in the circle under the party name, the name so written or placed shall be counted one vote for such person, whether the original name on the party ticket is erased or not, excepting cases where there is a cross in the square before the name of some opposite candidate on some other party ticket.

7. If no cross is placed in the circle under the party name, a cross in the square before the name of any candidate shall be deemed a vote for such candidate except in cases where the elector votes for more candidates for the same office than are to be elected.

8. Such elector shall indicate his preference on any constitutional amendment or other submitted question, by making a cross in the square in front of the word "YES" or in the square in front of the word "NO" opposite or below such question on the proper ballots.

9. If you wish to vote for the electors of the president and vice-president of the United States of a political party other than your own, make a cross in the circle under the name of your party and also make a cross in the square before the bracket embracing the names of the candidates for president and vice-president for whose presidential electors you desire to vote.

Bits of Seasoning in Local News for Today

PARTRIDGE HUNTERS NEED NO GUNS

Two more instances of bagging birds without benefit of gunpowder were reported to this department of news remnants. It seems that an Escanaba hunter was out Sunday on a logging road, and as he reached a cross-trail there was a bang and a dead partridge plunked at his feet. He waited for the marksman to come and claim his kill, but nobody came, and all he could see was a north view of two youngsters heading south. He called, but they only increased their speed afoot, and he finally picked up the bird for his own empty bag, concluding that the boys were hunting without a permit and mistook him for a conservation officer.

Then there are the two Earls—Taylor and Casey—railroad men. They completed a run to Crystal Falls Monday and retired for the night, when there was a loud crash downstairs and the tinkle of glass. Members of the household arrived simultaneously at a window to find that a partridge had flown through it and brought all the glass with him or her. Needless to say, it was taps for the partridge.

"WILD BILL" NOMINATED

NEW YORK Republicans have selected a strong vote-getter to head their state ticket in the November election in the person of Col. William B. (Wild Bill) Donovan. He will oppose Herbert H. Lehman, who received the gubernatorial nomination at the Democratic party's state convention, with the assistance of Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Colonel Donovan is rated as extremely popular throughout New York state. He has a magnetic personality, a friendly smile, and tremendous energy. In fact, he has been termed by some writers as a second Teddy Roosevelt.

Just turning forty, Donovan has had a highly successful and varied career. He worked his way through college for a law degree; practiced a few years, and then was appointed U. S. district attorney for Western New York, in which capacity he distinguished himself in the vigorous prosecution of a notorious narcotic smuggling ring.

During the world war, he won the nickname of "Wild Bill" because of his feats of courage. For his bravery in action overseas, he received the three highest citations that it is possible to receive.

Later, Donovan became assistant to the U. S. Attorney General, in which position he had supervision of the anti-trust cases. He could have received an ambassadorship or other distinguished appointments from Hoover, but he chose to resign about three years ago to return to private legal practice. His retirement from office, however, did not cause him to diminish his active participation in public affairs.

Lehman, the Democratic nominee, is a personal friend of Al Smith. He contributed heavily to Smith's presidential campaign in 1928. Lehman also had the support of Governor Roosevelt in the fight for the nomination.

It is understood that the Republican national committee was eager for the nomination of Colonel Donovan. As Donovan has such a large following in the state, it is figured that he will bolster up the ticket in that state to the benefit of Hoover. Being of Irish descent and a Catholic, it is also believed that Donovan may attract to the Republican ticket some of the votes that went to Smith in 1928.

More and more, the political signs point to New York's being the pivotal state in the presidential election. Observers seem to agree that the candidate who wins New York's 47 electoral votes will win the presidency. Both parties are bending every effort to strengthen themselves in New York, and an atmosphere of mystery surrounds the state. Speculation is always rife as to what Tammany, Jimmie Walker, McKee, Smith and the other political factors will do next. From now until Nov. 8 New York will be continuously in the political spotlight.

THE C-C ELECTION

MEMBERS of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce should have no difficulty in picking five good men to serve on the board of directors. The reason is that as a result of the primary election Monday ten able men were nominated, so there is no doubt of the outcome of the final election tomorrow—five good men will win and five other good men will lose.

In the conduct of its elections the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce practices the democratic form of government to an extreme degree. For instance, 124 members received votes in Monday's primary election for the nomination of the ten candidates. This gives every member, who distinguishes himself in the community, a chance to serve on the board of directors. Such a plan develops interest in the organization's program and tends toward community solidarity. Escanaba Chamber of Commerce members are reminded again not to fail to vote in Friday's election.

A UNITED FRONT

THIS is the month when Upper Peninsula county boards make their budgets for the year ahead. It is certain that requests for appropriations will be more carefully scrutinized than usual.

The Upper Peninsula Development bureau is hopeful of securing a fair degree of financial assistance from each of the fifteen northern counties. For over a fifth of a century it has merited and received the support of private, corporate, municipal and county interests. It has received splendid recognition from the state in the furtherance of Michigan's yearly tourist advertising campaign.

The bureau helps not only in tourist publicity, but in securing more and better highways, fish hatcheries, game refuges and shooting grounds, state parks, state and national forests, more diversified agriculture and in many other ways. The organization represents the whole peninsula and there are some jobs which only the bureau can carry out effectively. It has proved itself active and successful in the consummation of various projects of benefit to all.

If the organization was needed in the days of prosperity it is doubly necessary now. It has been a potent factor in helping the north country to pull together—a spirit for which this district is famous, and which we need more than ever in this time of doubt and fear.

The bureau has paid its way and then some. "Every county behind the Bureau" should be the motto of the Upper Peninsula.

THE DANGEROUS AGE

A SERIOUS responsibility rests on parents whose sons and daughters, under the age of 20, drive automobiles. It is their duty to impress upon budding men and women the vital necessity for care, courtesy and obedience to traffic rules at all times.

The most dangerous age for drivers is under 20, according to E. E. Robinson, Secretary of the National Bureau of Casualty & Surety Underwriters. Out of every thousand drivers under the age of 20 last year, 39 were involved in accidents. From 20 to 29, 36 drivers out of one thousand had mishaps; there were 27 in the ages of 30 to 39; twenty in the ages of 40 to 49 and 18 out of one thousand in the ages of 50 and over.

Automobile public liability and property damage insurance rates are wholly under the control of their policyholders. Stock casualty companies have established by statistics that the record for drivers under 20 last year was 39 per cent worse than the average; from 26 to 29 it was 29 per cent worse; from 30 to 39, 3.6 per cent better than the average; from 40 to 49 it was 29 per cent better and in the ages of 50 and over, 36 per cent better than the average. In the ages under 30, accident experience was 64.7 per cent worse than among the drivers beyond that age.

There were 26,410 drivers under the age of 18 involved in accidents, of which 1,270 were in fatal accidents and 25,140 in non-fatal accidents. From 18 to 24 there were 326,690 drivers in accidents which killed 13,000 persons and injured 313,690.

If parents will constantly emphasize to their children the necessity for safe driving and obedience to traffic regulations, it will be reflected in a diminishing toll of deaths, injury and property damage now exicted by the motor car on streets and highways.

CALL of the WEST

(By NEA Service) By R. G. MONTGOMERY

CHAPTER XIX

THE horsemen halted before Malloy, who stepped forward. His voice was hard. "Get him?" he demanded.

"No. He shot Smoot." The rider who held the limp figure before him slid to the ground and pulled his burden from the saddle.

Malloy bent over the prostrate man while Dona edged closer. "The rest of the boys are hot on him and will get him," the man added. He knelt and watched Malloy's fingers exploring for the wound. "Is he dead?" he asked.

Malloy shook his head. "Nicked," he grunted. Finally he straightened. "You said Ball shot him?"

"Sure, slugged him from beside the trail."

Dona felt a tightening at her throat as the man stirred and groaned. She felt a little sick, too, as she watched Malloy wipe red stains from his hands with a bandana handkerchief. The tall cowboy grunted.

"Ball never shot this man. He's plugged with a rifle bullet. Soft nosed." Malloy lifted the man's head as he spoke.

"Sure, Ball plugged him," the rider snapped. "We seen it."

"You lie like a coyote, but get him over to the Doc and have him fixed up." Malloy slipped his arms under the wounded man's shoulders as he spoke.

Dona slipped away and ran toward the main building. Ball was dangerous. That was plain. He was a real killer, and no mistake about it. What disturbed her was the way Malloy stood up for him. She would have to see Swergin and have Malloy fired. It was like having a traitor in camp.

Dona slipped into her own room and locked the door, but first she made sure her father was sleeping. Then she lay thinking for an hour, although she was tired. Finally she fell into a troubled sleep.

SHE was awakened by someone pounding on her door. Sleepily she called out, "Come!" Then she remembered that she had locked the door. Slipping a silk gown around her, Dona poked her feet into dressing slippers and unfastened the catch. Dudley's head appeared around the door.

"Can you let a poor husband in?" he demanded with a grin. All trace of sulkiness was gone from his face.

"You know I can't," Dona answered in an exasperated voice.

"It would look a bit more natural," Dudley insisted. "Folks will expect me to come out of this room in the morning."

Suddenly Dona realized that it was early. The clock on her dresser said six. Dudley put a hand on the door but Dona held it tight.

"I need your help, lady!" he went on. "I want to get properly dressed up for the first day of married life."

Dona noticed that her father's door was open across the hall. "You opened it?" she asked accusingly.

Dudley grinned. "I just looked in and forgot to close it. Your Dad is liable to be waking up any minute now."

Dona pushed him back and closed the door. "I'll be dressed in a minute. Then you can come in," she called.

Dudley moved down the hall to his room and Dona dressed hurriedly. She would have to make a decision, that was certain. If her father was well enough to be left alone she would have to go with Dudley to find Sam Dean. It was plain that Asper Delo would become suspicious if Dudley kept up his actions, and it would not do to have him discover the trick she had played. He was beginning to mend again and if he let himself become angered and excited he might have a relapse.

DUDLEY was in the hall waiting for her. He was cool in his greeting and did not speak as they crossed to the mess hall for breakfast. He ate in silence, for which Dona was thankful as she was trying to decide what to do.

After breakfast they strolled outside and Dudley faced her. "Do we go for a ride in the car?" he asked.

"Want to?" Dona hedged.

"What do you say?"

"I'll go." Dona made the plunge wildly.

"This afternoon?"

Dona nodded. She could not trust her voice.

"I want to get in another half day's riding." Dudley spoke like a spoiled child. He was hurt and plainly felt abused.

Dona almost burst out laughing, in spite of the fact that she was grateful for the delay.

Dudley caught the gleam of laughter in her eyes and scowled. "What's so funny?" he demanded.

"Nothing, dear, only you look so awfully mad." Dona patted his hand.

Mollified, Dudley took her arm and they walked slowly back to the main building. Asper was sitting up in bed eating broth and toast.

"Top of the morning!" he greeted them.

"Feeling lots better, aren't you, Dad?" Dona said eagerly.

Asper scowled at the broth. "If I don't get some real he-man food pretty soon I'll waste away."

Dona laughed and patted his arm. "Sick folks can't have short cuts for breakfast," she chided him.

"A cut of steak is what every man should have for breakfast," Asper growled. He looked up at Dudley and his scowl vanished. "How are you this morning, son?"

"I had a good sleep," Dudley assured him without a smile.

"Fine way to have you kids tied up on your honeymoon," Asper rumbled.

"Don't you worry about us," Dona cut in hastily.

"No, just forget our honeymoon and get patched up so we can take a real one." Dudley's grin came through.

"I'll be with you this morning," Dona said, patting her father's pillow up against his back as she spoke.

"No. You kids run along together." Asper shoved back the empty broth bowl.

"Dud is riding out on a scouting tour," Dona explained.

Asper grunted and straightened. "Young man, you'd better stay in camp with your wife. This family doesn't need any widows."

DUDLEY met Asper's eyes levelly. "I'm riding, sir," he said. "I have a theory worked out and I want to test it. This afternoon Dona and I will go for a car ride to make up for my running off."

Asper grunted but it was plain that Dudley's attitude pleased him. Dudley turned to Dona and smilingly claimed a kiss. She flushed as she gave it. Dudley certainly believed in taking every advantage he could of circumstances.

Swergin appeared just then in the doorway. He scowled at Dudley and Dona.

"Come in and meet the newlyweds!" Asper called.

Swergin glared at the blushing couple but did not offer congratulations. He faced Asper. "Jest came up to report that another man was shot last night."

It was plainly with an effort that Asper Delo kept from bursting out angrily. Dona moved to her father's side and faced Swergin. "The man was not seriously wounded, Dad. I was down at the corrals when they brought him in."

Swergin gave Dona a level look which she returned with flashing eyes. It was plain Swergin did

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

FIRST OF ALL

I have a thousand things to do
Today, and one is writing you—
Curtains to clean, and hang again,
And then a little mending then,
Take out a stain from that new dress,
The one I wrote about (I guess)—
It seems that ev'ry morning brings
Around about a thousand things.

Now, some might say, "What shall it be,
Be first of all?" It seems to me—
Though curtains are important, and
A stain is something I can't stand,
And other things my eyes have met
I haven't even mentioned yet—
The first of all, of things to mend,
I separation from a friend.

I fear too many of us say,
"I'll have to write to her someday"—
Yet I know nothing, high or low,
That ever needs attention so,
(I'd hate to think you did a lot
Of little things, with me forgot)—
I have a thousand things to do,
But first of all is writing you!

VOTERS ADVISED TO STUDY ISSUES

Will Vote on Amendments to State Constitution Nov. 8

Besides being asked to vote for candidates for national, county and state officers, with several party tickets on the ballot in the general election Tuesday, November 8, Michigan's electorate will be called upon to reject or accept eight proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Several of these amendments are of great length and will require considerable concentration and thought upon the part of voters before they reach a decision.

Voters Must Study Issues

It is apparent that to speed up the voting, electors should make a careful study of the amendment proposals before election day.

Two amendments will be considered in this article, the first dealing with the important question of whether the prohibition laws of the state should be repealed. This proposal is commonly known as the "red, white and blue" amendment.

Liquor Law Amendment

Proposal No. 1, the proposed amendment to Article XVI, Section 11, of the state constitution will read as follows:

"Section 11. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission, who, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof; and the legislature may also provide for an excise tax on such sales: Providing, however, that neither the legislature nor such commission may authorize the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages in any county in which the electors thereof, by a majority vote, shall prohibit the same."

This proposed amendment, if adopted, will repeal prohibition of the liquor traffic and will authorize the legislature to establish a liquor control commission to control the alcohol beverage traffic and also authorize the legislature to provide for an excise tax on sales, provided that manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages may not be allowed in any county in which the electors vote to prohibit it.

Second Amendment

The second amendment deals with a proposal to limit the amount of taxes assessed against property.

Proposal No. 2, the proposed amendment to Article X, by adding Section 21 to the state constitution, is as follows:

"Section 21. The total amount of taxes assessed against property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed one and one-half per cent of the assessed valuation of said property, except taxes levied for the payment of interest and principal no obligations heretofore incurred, which sums shall be separately assessed in all cases: Provided, That this limitation may be increased for a period of not to exceed five years at one time, to not more than a total of five per cent of the assessed valuation by a two-thirds vote of the electors of any assessing district, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation: Provided further, That this limitation shall not apply to taxes levied in the year 1932."

Limit Taxes Assessed

This proposed amendment, if adopted, will limit the total amount of taxes assessed against property for all purposes in any one year to one and one-half per cent of the assessed valuation, except taxes levied for payment of obligations already incurred, provided tha tthe limitation may be increased for not to exceed five years at any one time to not more than five per cent of the assessed valuation by a two-thirds vote of the electors of any assessing district, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at Peoples Drug Store, Gladstone Agent G. E. Dehlin or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

Cabbage Growers Visit Wisconsin

Several members of the Sturgeon Valley Truck Growers association left Wednesday morning with B. A. Heath, of Marquette, agricultural agent for the South Shore railway, for a trip of inspection to Wisconsin points.

The party will spend several days in the district around Appleton, paying particular attention to cabbage culture. They will look over some of the best of the fields, storage buildings and sauerkraut plants, and will study Wisconsin grading methods.

The association was organized this year. Its membership is composed largely of farmers in the Sturgeon river district of Baraga county who are making cabbage growing a specialty.

BARN DESTROYED

Moran, Mich.—A barn owned by J. D. Erskine, of Allenville, burned to the ground after it was struck by lightning at 2:30 this morning. Farm implements and machinery valued at $1,000, also a two-year crop of hay and this year's crop of grain, were stored in the building. It was a complete loss, with the exception that some of the machinery may be covered by insurance. A new house, almost completed, about 200 feet from the barn, was not damaged.

Because of low prices this year, the farmers of northern and eastern Colorado will hold their crop of popcorn from the market and feed it to livestock.

There are 600 miles of fishing streams in the Great Smoky Mountains national park area.

LAND MEETING OPENS FRIDAY

Two-Day Conference to Be Held at Munising This Week

Michigan State College has completed the plans for the Land Use Conference to be held at Munising, on October 7 and 8. Dr. L. C. Gray of Washington, D. C., one of the authors of "What About the Year 2000?" and economist of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, will open the program with an address on the broader aspects of rural land planning and community development.

Each of the principal land uses, agricultural, forest, industrial, and recreational will then be discussed by experts in those fields. Wayne Newton, Secretary of the State Commission of Inquiry into County, Township and School District Government will discuss the problems of organization and financing rural communities.

The last subject of the first day's session will be the presentation of a plan of land use prepared by Mr. L. R. Schoenmann of the Michigan Land Economic Survey.

A ninety mile field trip is planned for Saturday morning which will illustrate the various forms of land use and misuse. After hearing experts from other states explain what their states are doing in planned land use it is hoped that a definite plan of securing land planning in Michigan can be developed at the last session of the conference on Saturday afternoon.

"The conference" states Professor P. A. Herbert of Michigan State College who will preside during the first two sessions, "has created much interest. Plans recently put forth by industrial leaders to farm the state-owned sand plains in northern Michigan points clearly to the need of rationalized planning of land uses."

"All studies of the land that has reverted to the state for the non payment of taxes have brought out clearly that practically all of these lands are non-agricultural based on American standards of living. Europe has thousands of acres of exactly similar land and even under their standards of living they do not find it possible to farm them. Carefully planning of land use is obviously necessary before extensive schemes of agricultural colonization should be attempted."

THEATRES

The charming blonde Constance Bennett, or the Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudray, as she is known in private life, is the attraction today at the Delft theatre, in a powerful dramatic story, "Two Against the World," produced by Warner Bros.

The story is a brilliant drama of high society with a dynamic court room scene, in which a beautiful society girl confesses to sins of which she is not guilty. She drags her honor in the dust, in order to save her brother from the electric chair and her married sister from a scandal.

There is an unusually strong cast with Miss Bennett supported by Neil Hamilton, who although he is in love with her, is forced to prosecute her brother on a murder charge, and compelled to listen to the story of her dishonor from her own lips.

The picture is taken from the popular novel by Marion Dix and Jerry Horwin and deals with a rich and proud family whose name is dragged through the mire of a scandalous criminal court battle.

Miss Bennett is particularly charming, it is said, as a society miss full of mischief and devil-may-care daring, but such a good sport that she shoulders the disgrace of the family at the expense of her own honor.

The background and settings are particularly lavish, representing wealthy homes, magnificently furnished apartments of wealthy clubmen and country estates of the elite social set. There is a wealth of beautiful gowns, Miss Bennett herself having twenty-two complete changes. Archie Mayo directed.

Stalwart Fair

Sault Ste. Marie—The Stalwart Agricultural Society today was making final plans for the annual Stalwart Fair to be held Thursday and Friday, October 6 and 7.

The fair has always proved popular with city as well as county residents, and fair officials expect the usual capacity crowd at the fair this year. Thursday is entry day, while sports events and other free attractions will be offered Friday.

U. P. Briefs

Sues Ford Company

Marquette—Hearing was begun here yesterday in United States district court of a $100,000 suit for damages brought by Louis Alimenti, 55, of Iron Mountain, against the Ford Motor company, with Herbert J. Rushton, attorney and state senator, of Escanaba, representing the Ford company and Ray Derham, Iron Mountain attorney and Republican nominee for state senator from the Thirty-first district, representing the plaintiff.

Alimenti, first witness called yesterday morning said he had been put to work in the oil room of the Ford Motor company's plant No. 2, in Iron Mountain, on January 16, 1930, dipping pieces of wood into a vat filled with an oil preparation intended for preserving the wood. After 19 hours of work at this occupation, he said, he suddenly started trembling, was overcome by nausea and was unable to continue.

Doctor Arrested

Marquette—District Attorney Fred C. Wetmore last night filed charges of contempt of court against Dr. William S. Schlei, of Iron Mountain, alleging that Dr. Schlei appeared on the witness stand in United States district court here yesterday afternoon and gave testimony under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Dr. Schlei pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Fred M. Raymond and will be given a hearing within the next two or three days. He was ordered to furnish a $1,000 bond.

A. of C. Election

Ironwood—Oscar W. Schneider was reelected president of the Ironwood Association of Commerce at the annual meeting held last night at the Curry hotel. A. L. Hiebel was re-elected treasurer.

Pinned Between Cars

Marquette—Pinned between two cars on Washington street late yesterday afternoon, Milton Everson, truck driver for Bureau's grocery, was slightly injured. It was an odd accident, Mrs. Rose Waskoski, of Munising, who had parked her car on the south side of the street near Donckers' store, started to drive out from the curb, but as the front wheels of her car crossed the yellow parking line, she saw a car, driven by P. W. Phelps, of Marquette, coming behind her from the west. She stopped her car, but the front bumper of Phelps' car struck the left front fender of her car and pushed it into Bureau's truck, which was parked ahead of her. The impact shoved the truck ahead and Everson, who was standing in front of the truck, was pinned between the truck and a car parked in front of it. Everson was taken to St. Luke's hospital by Mr. Phelps and it was found that his legs were bruised. He was not otherwise injured.

Want Him to Stay

Iron River—More than 150 members of the congregations of the three west side Presbyterian churches, meeting at the Christ Presbyterian church of Stambaugh, voted unanimously for the retention of the Rev. Charles Murray as permanent pastor.

The Rev. Murray came here last spring to take the place vacated by the Rev. J. E. Rankin, and has served as temporary pastor. With Mrs. Murray, he has made his home in Stambaugh.

Fjetland to Speak

Iron River—O. K. Fjetland, of Gladstone, former Iron River resident and prominent upper Michigan Democrat, will be the principal speaker at a Democratic rally to be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, October 7, at the Iron River city hall.

Fjetland accompanied the Iron county Democratic delegation to the recent state Democratic convention at Lansing.

ORTHOPEDIC MEET

Marquette—Another joint orthopedic-pediatric clinic, similar to the one held in this city in July, 1931, is being planned here for Oct. 11. The clinic is to be an all-day affair and is to take place at the Northern Michigan Children's clinic as on the former occasion. The crippled children are to be examined by C. W. Peabody, of Detroit, a Michigan Crippled Children's commission representative. In addition, a neurological specialist, and a pediatrician, Dr. J. Garvey, is to be available for examination of children with conditions relating to those respective specialties.

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

Everyone is invited to attend the services and hear the talks.

Favorite Recipe

Betty Ann

A recipe for a delicious salt rising bread is given Betty Ann readers, following a request for it through the kindness of Mrs. J. J. Graham, who is herself decidedly accomplished in the art of cooking.

Salt Rising Bread

Stir three tablespoons of meal into one pint of milk scalded to a boiling point. Set in a warm place until the next morning.

Add enough hot water to make luke warm, and enough flour to make a stiff batter. Then cover and set in a pan of warm water to rise.

Add to this, one cup warm water, one dessert spoon salt, two tablespoons sugar, and make into a stiff dough. Work well. Form into loaves immediately and put in a warm place to rise. Bake in a moderate oven.

The secret of good salt rising bread is keeping the temperature even.

Mrs. Oscar Peterson's recipe for Red Devil's Food is another you will want to use to treat the family with a delicious cake these cool days.

Red Devil's Food

(All measurements level)

One cup sugar.
One-fourth cup shortening.
Two eggs.
Two squares bitter chocolate.
One teaspoon soda.
One-half cup sour milk.
One-half cup boiling water.
One and one-half cups cake flour.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One-half teaspoon salt.

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and sift three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually. Add beaten eggs and beat hard. Stir in sour milk and flour alternately. Add melted chocolate to the boiling water, stir quickly and add soda while mixture is boiling hot. Stir until thickened and add last to the cake mixture. Add vanilla, beat hard. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven, about 325 to 350 degrees F.

India May Copy Girl Scout Idea At "Little House"

Washington (AP)—The quaint Girl Scouts "Little House," developed chiefly by Mrs. Hoover, may soon have its imitator in far-off India.

To the "Little House" has come, in the khaki uniform of Girl Guides, Miss Patricia Richards and Miss Clara Seidler, leaders of the English version of the Girl Scouts movement in Indian schools.

Personal friend of Lady Baden-Powell, Miss Richards, an Englishwoman, told of scouting as it is done in the high-walled gardens of the purdah schools to which veiled girls come in covered conveyances, entering under canopies, so that they are never seen by men.

Miss Seidler, American missionary to India, who leads girl groups in social strata where more freedom prevails, took notes on the "Little House," saying she intended to create such a home-training center in Kolhapur, Bombay, presidency, India.

Trombleys Honored On Golden Wedding Anniversary Day

Escanaba friends of the family will be interested in an item appearing in the Flint Journal of Sept. 30, telling of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Trombley of Flint, former residents of Rock, uncle and aunt of Mrs. LaBranche of Rock.

The story, which accompanies a splendid picture of Mr. and Mrs. Trombley, follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. Trombley, 306 Van Wagoner street, observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary yesterday. A dinner for 45 was given last night by their children for relatives of Flint and from out of town.

"Two of their sons live in Flint, Jay Trombley and John Trombley, while Dr. F. F. Trombley and Mrs. Leroy Langland and families, who reside in Chicago, were present for the occasion. Another guest was Mrs. Trombley's sister, Mrs. Anna McDonald of Detroit. They were presented with many gifts and flowers."

Gay Potpourri Of Tastes Shown In Paris Styles

Paris (AP)—Picture of a fashion writers brain as she lies awake these nights: Peasant sleeves—raised waistlines—broader shoulders—lowered waistlines—straighter skirts—middle waistlines—fitted bodices—"Russian feeling"—muttonleg suggestions—longer day skirts—Princess lines.

Such swirling thoughts grow out of the mad semi-annual dash of the fashion sleuths up and down the Rue de la Paix, out of one salon and into another, trying frantically to see all the fall openings and analyze the trends behind all the hundreds of new creations.

Trends In Brief

But all the hasty sketches and scribbled notes on the backs of envelopes can be boiled down into a few rules for the 1932 fall modes. In brief:

Shoulders are broader, and sleeves are full between the elbow and shoulder.

Shirt silhouettes are straighter and narrower.

Waistlines are higher, lower, or unchanged, as you prefer.

Some evidence is seen of Russian influence at several of the salons, particularly in fur details, hat styles and peasant sleeves. There is a noticeable attempt, too, to foster a mediaeval revival, but most of the designers avoid too rigidly defined "period" treatment.

Princess Lines In Vogue

Princess lines are much in evidence both for day and evening, with the marked tendency toward traighter skirts. Princess type coats are in favor, too, both for day and evening.

Epaulette treatments and new raglan cuts are used to give the desired effect of broader shoulders, and there is a muttonleg suggestion in the top fulness of the sleeves. This is achieved by a raglan cut with stitched pleats let out below the shoulder.

Combinations of two shades of one color are frequently seen in the fall displays of daytime dresses, while for evening wear there are many two-color treatments.

High Round Neck Favored

Daytime neckline treatments incline towards high round necks, plain draped, or those having wide round collars. Some, too, have narrow standing band collars, or "turtle neck" treatments.

Suit skirts, as a rule, are very plain, with some wraparounds and fewer diagonals and fewer yokes. A tendency is seen to emphasize front skirt fulness wits a flat back.

Suit jackets usually have three-quarters jackets, fur trimmed.

Many of the fall coats have fur sleeve puffs set below the shoulder, or small round capes edged with fur to give the desired broad shoulder effec

Rally Day Will Be Observed at Church Sunday

Rally Day services will be held next Sunday evening at the First Methodist Episcopal church beginning at 7:30 o'clock. A Biblical pageant entitled "Episodes in the Life of Moses," arranged by the pastor, Rev. R. C. G. Williams, and directed by Miss Evelyn Cassels, will be presented. The pageant will be given in costume, and there will be special features between the episodes. Miss Mabel Bowers is in charge of the costuming.

Mrs. John Greis and daughter, Nona Marie, and Mrs. R. L. Fredrickson and sons, Donald and Billy John, have returned from Daggett where they visited with Mrs. Fredrickson's grandmother, Mrs. O. Eckman.

Personal News

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Defnet and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shepeck have returned from a visit in Chicago during which they attended the world series Cubs-Yankee games.

Miss Mary Wagner and William Ranguette, who visited in Chicago as guests of Mr. Ranguette's brother, while attending the world's series games, have returned to this city.

Mr. and Mrs. James Green, 615 South eighth street, left Wednesday morning for Milwaukee where they will visit for a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lewis, and children. Mrs. Lewis is the former Miss Doris Green of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ramey and family left Tuesday for Wausau, Wis., where Mr. Ramey who has been assistant manager of the Escanaba Kresge store, has been appointed assistant manager of the Wausau Kresge store. His place here will be filled by Thomas Geran, who with Mrs. Geran, has arrived from Milwaukee to take up his duties here.

Mr. and Mrs. George King, who have been visiting here with Mr. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burt L. King, 412 South Seventh street, left Wednesday afternoon by motor for Detroit. Mr. King is located there at present as a member of Fred Birgen's Vagabonds. The orchestra is returning to New York at the close of its Detroit engagement.

Arthur Hayek of Racine, former drummer at the Delft theatre, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sundman, 521 South 17th street. Mr. Hayek is now employed at the Nash Motors company plant in Racine, and is still playing the drums with the bands and orchestras at Racine. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mattson, formerly of Escanaba, and now residents of Racine, are also visiting at the Sundman home.

Bowling League For Women Of City Planned

A meeting of all women interested in bowling, for the purpose of organizing an Escanaba Woman's Bowling League, will be held this evening at the Arcade Alleys, Fred Olmsted, manager, presiding at the meeting.

Arrangements are being made to form a women's league similar to that active in Menominee and the meetings tonight will be the first step in this direction.

Awards for high scores for women for the week ending Oct. 8 have been assounced as follows: Mrs. A. O. Syverson, 193, high score; Mrs. John Judson, Jr., 5, most strikes in one game; Mrs. Eckman, 6, greatest number of splits; Miss R. C. Olson. Men's awards went to Harold Tolan, 239, high score; Nick Wagner, 7, most strikes; Henry Olson, 9, most spares; George Walers, 6, most splits.

Professor Windt Speaker at Club Luncheon Today

An address of outstanding interest, Valentine B. Windt's discussion of "Recent Successes on Broadway," will feature the opening of the Escanaba Woman's club year's program today, at the annual initial luncheon which will be served at the Delta hotel at one o'clock.

Valentine B. Windt, who is professor of Play Production and Acting at the University of Michigan, is a talented speaker and he has a fund of knowledge on the theatre and the drama, gained through study and experience.

Born in Budapest, Hungary, he first taught in this country in a high school in New York City. He received his A. B. degree at Cornell in 1921 and his M. A. at Princeton in 1922. He taught at the Carnegie Institute of Technology from 1922 to 1928. In 1928 he went to the University of Michigan with the department of speech and he has been there since that time as professor of Play Production and Acting. He has also had considerable stage experience as a director and producer.

In addition to his address here before the Escanaba Woman's club and his talk this evening before members of the Business and Professional Woman's club and the members of the teaching profession of the city, Professor Windt will speak before the Manistique, Menominee and Iron Mountain Women's clubs.

It is desired that the entire membership of the Woman's club be represented at the opening luncheon which this year is being served for a very reasonable fee. Those, who, for any reason, are unable to be present for the luncheon, but are free for the remainder of the afternoon, are invited and urged to be present for Professor Windt's address and for bridge which will follow during the afternoon.

Mrs. Clella Cummiskey is chairman of the hostess committee, assisted by Mrs. C. J. Burns, Mrs. W. J. Hanrahan and Mrs. A. T. Hoffman.

Dr. Wallenius to Speak In Gladstone Twice At Celebration

"Our debt to George Washington, the first American citizen," is the subject of the address that will be given by Doctor C. G. Wallenius of Evanston on the first of the two-day programs that will be given in commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the death of Gustavus Adolphus and the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. On the second evening Doctor Wallenius will speak in Swedish. His subject will be "Gustaf Adolf, raddaren av den protestantiska friheten."

Doctor Wallenius, who is prominent as a minister, educator, lecturer, traveler and writer, was born in Sweden. His father was a clergyman who had the distinction of being one of the first seven Methodist ministers in Sweden.

Doctor Wallenius was graduated from Visby College on the Island of Gotland in the Baltic in 1886 and later continued his studies at Upsala University. In 1888 he came to the United States and studied at the Boston School of Theology. Before he had completed his course he was called by the board of directors of the Swedish Theological Seminary in Evanston to teach in the academic department and to serve as an associate editor of "The Watchman." He has been connected with the seminary for a period of thirty years, sixteen of these as president of the school.

In 1913 the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by the Northwestern University.

Doctor Wallenius has traveled extensively in Europe and America and has written about one hundred travelogues for various papers. He has been in great demand as a lecturer on historical patriotic and religious subjects. In recognition of his services and attainments Dr. Wallenius was created a Knight of the Swedish Order of the North Star by King Gustav V in September, 1929.

Doctor Wallenius will speak in Minneapolis at a community celebration, including all the Swedish churches and organizations, on November 6, and he will go directly from his Gladstone appointment to the Twin Cities.

GISH IS FIRST HUNTING VICTIM

Father Is Wounded by Son While Hunting Yesterday

W. A. Gish, 52, Flooring Plant addition, narrowly escaped death yesterday in the first hunting accident of the season near Gladstone. Gish was struck in the head and shoulders by a charge of bird shot fired from a gun in the hands of his 16 year old son, Robert. More than a dozen shot struck him and were deeply imbedded in the flesh. His hat was literally riddled as the full force of the shot passed within a fraction of an inch of his skull.

The charge was fired from a distance of about 60 feet, when a bird flushed in front of the son, who was following a ridge near the Takoosh river. Unaware that his father was in the brush a short distance away, Robert fired. Gish dropped unconscious in the brush and the son rushed to his side as he heard him fall. The man was brought to Gladstone where a number of the shot were removed and the wounds dressed.

Gish regained consciousness after being treated and his condition is not considered critical. An operation may be necessary to remove the shot that are deeply imbedded in the flesh.

MAKE PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

All Day Celebration Being Planned by Local Legion

Plans are under way for the celebration of Armistice Day in Gladstone this year on a scale surpassing any previous Armistice celebration since the close of the World war, according to A. D. Alguire, chairman of the program committee. The celebration which is being sponsored by August Mattson Post No. 17 of the American Legion, is to be an all day affair, including programs at the schools in the forenoon, a flag raising and dedication ceremony at Marble Athletic Field, preceding the Escanaba-Gladstone football game, a big Legion banquet in the evening and concluding with a dance at the Dutch Mill that night.

While all the details of the celebration have not yet been worked out, it is known that at the flag raising and dedication services at least two bands and two drum and bugle corps will participate. The Gladstone high school and the drum and bugle corps are certain to be in the program, and the Legion drum and bugle corps of Escanaba is expected to be present as are the bands from both the Junior and Senior high schools. It is also planned to have the Gladstone city band take part.

The morning plans wil include a short program before the assembly of the schools and also a program at the Rock schools. Local Legion men will take part in these programs.

The banquet in the evening will be a County Legion affair, with prominent Legion men as speakers. The list of speakers is now being made up with the liklihood that the state commander, or some other of the officials of the Legion, will deliver the principle adress.

The Armistice dance will be the usual colorful affair staged annually by the Gladstone Legion.

City Employment At New Low Point

Employments of labor by the city of Gladstone has reached its lowest point in a number of months, according to City Manager F. R. Buechner. No construction work other than the boat harbor and park improvement is now in progress and the crew on that job has been cut down considerably during the past two weeks.

For a short time the steam shovel at the gravel pit in the north part of the city has been at work getting out a small amount of gravel for street repair. A few men have been provided employment through this effort.

Work on the boat harbor is progressing satisfactorily and completion of the harbor is looked for by Nov. 1. As fast as the dirt has been excavated a crew of men have been busy transporting the material to other parts of the park to fill depressions.

A few more days and the width of the harbor will have been excavated and the drag line equipment will then be moved to the north side of the harbor where the area excavated last year will be deepened. When this has been completed, the equipment will again be moved and the west end of the harbor evened up.

It is planned to start excavation on the canals to connect the harbor with the bay early next year.

THEATRES

"What become of all the beauties in Hollywood?"

Rufus LeMaire, head of the casting department for the Warner Bros. studios in Burbank, wished to know. He was picking players for "Winner Take All," the Warner Bros. picture starring James Cagney, which comes to the Rialto Theatre today and Friday. They had to be beautiful, they had to be refined-looking; for they were society girls going to a fashionable night club.

LeMaire consulted Bill Mayberry, assistant casting director and the owner of a photographic mind which carries a picture of every pretty face that has appeared in pictures for ten years.

Work Stopped At The Ford Farm

Operations at the Ford farm near Gladstone were suspended Monday noon and the entire crew of 70 men laid off. The machinery and equipment were removed to the upper peninsula headquarters of the company at Iron Mountain. No announcement was made by the company as to the reason for the lay-off or their future plans.

On a recent visit of Henry Ford to Gladstone, a statement was issued that operations would be continued through the winter by E. G. Kingsford, upper peninsula representative of the motor magnate. In view of this statement it is believed that the shut down is temporary and that operations will be resumed when the Ford company has made adjustments of wages under the new scale.

DAMAGE SUIT BEING HEARD

Case Is Outgrowth of Soo Line Train and Taxi Collision

BULLETIN

A verdict of no cause for action was directed by Judge Runnels in the damage suit of P. H. Miles against the Soo Line railway. The court ruled that the plaintiff's testimony showed contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff. The motion for the directed verdict was made following the rebuttal testimony of Attorney J. J. Herbert, defense counsel.

The damage suit of P. H. Miles vs. the Soo Line railway occupied the court throughout Tuesday and was still being heard at 10 o'clock yesterday morning when the plaintiff rested his case and Attorney J. J. Herbert, representing the Soo Line, called upon the witnesses for the defense.

The case in question is an outgrowth of an accident which occurred about 9:30 a. m. on the morning of Wednesday, September 2, 1931, in the vicinity of Delta Junction west of the city, in which a Soo Line freight train struck a taxi driven by P. H. Miles with Edward H. Taylor, of Chicago, a passenger. Mr. Taylor sustained severe injuries to his back and Mr. Miles incurred an injury to his neck.

The attorney for the plaintiff, John J. O'Hara, of Menominee, attempted to prove in his allegations of negligence that the train was not under control at the time, that it was traveling at an excessive rate of speed, that the bell and whistle had not sounded, contended that the crossing was public and not private, and that a snow fence and brush along the tracks obscured the view to the west.

Witnesses who took the stand for the plaintiff were P. H. Miles, Dr. George A. Shaw, Chief of Police John Peterson, Ellis and Ed Eriksen. Phil Hufford, engineer on the locomotive and Bert Biddlecomb, fireman, were called to the stand as adverse witnesses.

Jurors who served on the case were John Cook, Gertrude Harrington, Bertha Cookson, Enoch Asp, Albert Huebscher, Alfred Erickson, Elsie Pacquette, Ephraim Brolin, Judson Ulery, John Cameron, Francis Morrison, August Carlson.

ALL ON A SEAL

Chicago, Ill.—With an ordinary Pribiloff seal, you can run your car, start building a road, operate a Diesel engine, light your home or quench your thirst. Dr. Gustav Egloff has just discovered that 60 percent of the oil of one of these seals is anti-knock gasoline, 12 percent is asphalt, 7 percent oil, 16 percent illuminating gas and 5 percent pure water. Dr. Egloff warns against worrying about the future gasoline supply, since besides seals, gasoline may be obtained from ordinary trees and cottonseed oil.

HERMIT EATS MEALS OFF HIS COFFIN

By NEA Service

Mineral Wells, Tex.—When A. Schnocke reaches his 90th birthday, soon, he'll eat his birthday meals off his coffin.

Schnocke, an aged hermit who has resided in the hills near Perrin for 60 years, is one of the territory's curiosities. He lives in a one-room shack, one end of which is stacked with canned gods, and the other filled with a table and coffin. Two cowskins laid on the floor have served as his bed for 25 years.

Until recent years he tended his few cattle clad only in a burlap sack, with holes for arms and neck.

The coffin has been his dining table for eight years.

WOMEN HEAR TALK ON DRAMA

Professor V. B. Windt In Splendid Address At Opening Meet

Members of the Manistique Woman's club were delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon at their first meeting of the current season by Valentine B. Windt, professor of play production at the University of Michigan, who spoke on the subject of "Broadway in Review," revealing in an interesting way the art and development of drama and enumerating some of the recent successful plays produced on Broadway.

Musical entertainment consisted of piano solo, "Valse Iubato" by Jean Craver, and two solos by Herbert K. Peterson, "Homing" by Reigo and "Good Bye" by Tosti. Both presentations were well received by the large audience. Mrs. V. I. Hixson, club president, opened the meeting with a hearty and impressive greeting to the members.

Speaking on the development of the drama, Professor Windt pointed out that dramatical plays were at first a form of hero worship in which the audience came to see one actor or actress who stood out above the rest of the cast which was kept in the background. Gradually the audience learned to appreciate the lesser lights of the cast as well and the Moscow theatre produced plays in which a large number of the cast starred in the various productions.

These types of plays also became monotonous, said Professor Windt. They were constantly improved upon until today plays have an exceptionally good lead supported by a strong cast.

"The average theatre goer is a poor dramatic critic," declared the speaker, "and is not qualified to judge the quality of productions. He generally uses the standard of real life whereas drama is far above real life."

Professor Windt enumerated some of the recent Broadway successes such as "Reunion in Vienna," "There's Always Juliet," etc., and roughly outlined the dramas, "Mourning Becomes Electra," Eugene O'Neill's three-part tragedy which rises above mere pathos and strikes the note of genuine tragedy; "Of Thee I Sing," a musical satire on current politics which is so lively and stinging that the Pulitzer committee awarded it the Pulitzer prize, and "Another Language," a play written by Miss Rose Franklin, a story of the selfish mother who dominates her brood of sons even after they have acquired wives and children of their own.

Refreshments were served following the meeting with Mrs. V. I. Hixson and Mrs. Gordon Hughes presiding at the tables which were decorated with fall flowers and candles using the pretty color scheme of pink and green, the club colors.

Hostesses for the day were members of the executive committee, Mrs. V. I. Hixson, Mrs. W. F. Kefauver, Mrs. Ludwig Hough, Mrs. Charles Underwood, Mrs. Anton Weber, Mrs. Gordon Hughes, and Mrs. R. B. Waddell.

Mrs. John Carlson Passes Yesterday

Mrs. John E. Carlson, 60, one of the early pioneers of this city, passed away at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning at her residence, 525 Manistique avenue, after an illness of two years duration. Death was due to a paralytic stroke.

The deceased was born in Smoland, Sweden, February 23, 1872, coming to Manistique 34 years ago, and has made this city her place of residence since. Her passing is deeply mourned by her many acquaintances.

Immediate survivors besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. Andrew Allan, of Detroit, a sister Mrs. Gust Johnson of this city and a brother, Carl Beckman, also of this city.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the family residence with Rev. George Wahlin, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church officiating. Interment will be made in Lakeview cemetery with Gunnarson & Kefauver, local morticians, in charge.

Lakeside P. T. A.—The first regular meeting of the Lakeside Parent-Teachers' association will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Lakeside school. All parents, who are interested in the society, are urged to be present.

SOCIAL

Farwell Party

Twenty-one ladies were guests at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cherneski Monday evening, the party being arranged in honor of Mrs. Charles Akey who is leaving today for Detroit to make her home.

Five hundred formed the diversion of the afternoon and prizes in the games were awarded to Mrs. Dave LeMarbe for high score and Mrs. Lester Goudreau, low. Delicious refreshments were served after the games.

Guild Meeting

Twenty-four members attended the opening meeting of the Young Women's Guild of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Goldie Tyrrell, 516 Manistique avenue.

During the business meeting the guild decided to hold a tea in the near future. Miss Leona Strong assisted Mrs. Tyrrell as hostess.

The next meeting of the society will be held Tuesday evening, October 18, with Mrs. Lillian Scheer and Myrtle Wierenga as hostesses.

Surprised on Birthday

Mrs. Ethel Rouse was pleasantly surprised at her home, Garden avenue, Monday evening, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

Five tables of five hundred were formed by the guests and one of bunco. In five hundred, Mrs. William Gentz received the first prize, and Mrs. Walter Heric, consolation. Pot luck refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Rousse received a purse of silver in remembrance of the occasion.

Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Bottrell and children, of Newberry, arrived in the city yesterday. Rev. Bottrell has been appointed pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Stocks today ran into blustery weather that blew prices down 1 to 8 points in the liveliest trading of the past fortnight.

Weakness, apparent at the opening, was interrupted by brief intervals of dull steadiness, but prices resumed the decline after each respite and final quotations were virtually the lowest. Transactions totaled 2,951,760 shares.

A two cent dip in wheat and smaller recessions in corn appeared to have hastened the decline, although probably the major markets reacted on each other. Farm implement issues weakened severely, Case showing a net loss of 8¼ points, but rails were also depressed and there was little to choose among leading utilities and industrials. Stop-loss orders, it seemed, had been plentifully sprinkled through the list, being touched off by the initial application of pressure. Wall Street also assumed that traders who had thought the market's move out of its recent rut was apt to be downward had increased commitments on the short side.

Although supporting levels looked rather thin, it was noted that the closing averages, 57.7, or 5.2 points net lower, was just above the September low, a mark which held for several days prior to the most recent recovery. Chart readers concluded that another "testing point" had been reached.

Net losses of 4 to 5 points in pivotal shares were numerous, embracing such stalwarts as U. S. Steel common and preferred, American Can, Westinghouse, North American, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Du Pont, Norfolk & Western, Allied Chemical and International Harvester.

Santa Fe and Union Pacific bowed 7 points, while American Telephone and United Aircraft were off more than 5. Chrysler, Bethlehem, Kennecott, National Biscuit, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Gas, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio and Union Carbide bent 2 to 3.

Curb Market Reacts Before Selling Wave

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—The curb market gave way before waves of active selling today, which carried many prominent issues down 1 to more than 5 points.

Trading amounted to 360,000 shares, more than double yesterday's turnover of 150,000 shares. Utilities were particularly heavy, but selling embraced virtually all groups.

Oils held up fairly well. Humble, a lightly traded issue, appeared early at 41¼, a net gain of 1¾ points, and not trading subsequently, but Indiana and Gulf lost about a point.

Electric Bond and Share tumbled 5 points and American Gas and Electric nearly 4. Niagara Hudson and United Light "A," among lower priced issues, lost ¾ of a point each.

Deere reacted in sympathy with the wheat market, closing at 11 1-8, off 3½.

Aluminum Co. had one of its wide moves, breaking 11 points, and Great Atlantic and Pacific declined 6 to 140. Investment trusts were carried down with the rest of the list.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Oct. 5—Big outbursts of selling plunged grain values downward today, wheat to the bottom-most level since August 3, with corn and oats reaching new low records.

Weakness of securities and of cotton before the grain markets opened had an unsettling effect, and for the most part grain traders regarded President Hoover's speech last night as not likely to have any immediate stimulating influence. Contributing to the impetus of downturns of cereal prices, was the fact that wheat at Winnipeg fell to all-time new bottom quotations, October contracts there dropping below 49 cents a bushel.

Wheat closed unsettled, 2 to 2 3-8 cents lower than yesterday's finish, corn 1 1-8 to 1 3-8 down, oats 3-4 off, and provisions showing losses of 5 to 27 cents.

Some of the largest concerns in the grain trade here issued statements today that the president's speech was of no particular benefit to the grain market at present. Other trade authorities held that the address would have bracing ultimate effects and in some quarters it was asserted that the address amounted to an export bounty plan of the boldest nature.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. All deliveries of corn collapsed to prices not paralleled since 1896, and oats too reached levels not seen for many years back.

Provisions reflected chiefly the weakness of grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December, 56¼ to 56, 52½ to 53; May, 55½, 57 3-4. Corn—December, 26¼ to 3-8, 27 1-8; May, 31¼ to 32.

Thar's Gold In Them Thar Grizzly Hides!

Ann Arbor, Oct. 5—Despite topsy-turvy world money standards, Ursus horribilis, the Alaskan grizzly bear, sticks to the gold standard, or rather, the gold standard sticks to him. When a University of Michigan forestry professor went prospecting in bear hides brought from the Yukon region, looking for new types of animal parasites, he found the expected fleas, and unexpected flakes of gold, scattered throughout the fur.

While Professor Dow V. Boxter, of the university school of forestry and conservation, was in Alaska during the summer, hunting for new forest fungi, he purchased four silver tip grizzly bear hides from Indian hunters at Whitehorse, in the Yukon. Back at the university this fall he turned the hides over to Professor E. C. O'Roke, expert on animal parasites on the forestry and conservation staff.

When Professor O'Roke hunts for parasites he carefully combs out the suspected fur and then "pans" the dust in a small dish with water, much as gold is panned by prospectors. Panning his bear dust, the professor was pleased to find fleas, dead and dried up. Looking more closely he saw yellow flakes which immediately recalled days when he had prospected for minerals. Examined under the microscope, with the surrounding organic material strained, the yellow metal gleamed out characteristically and unmistakably.

Lest ambitious miners pack kits and head for the Yukon, Professor O'Roke states that the gold is minute in quantity and that "bear panning" is far from a get-rich-quick possibility. How the bears collected the gold flakes in their thick fur is a mystery. Small amounts of gold are found in many Alaskan stream beds and the metal may have been caught under the animal's claws, later to be transferred to the fur in scratching operations, or the bears might have "rolled in wealth" on the shore of some quiet Yukon stream, picking up stray flakes of the mineral that old sourdoughs have sought ever since the great strikes in the 1890's.

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Second-grade rail issues reacted sharply in the bond market today and all classes of listed loans declined in the ensuing selling wave.

The reaction was blamed principally on the slump in stocks. The market had been indifferently easy for some sessions, but today's break was the sharpest since the early part of September.

The volume of transactions was somewhat larger than that of yesterday. Sales, however, totaled only $9,378,000, par value, or a little less than recent normal aggregates. The average for 60 corporate loans lost nine-tenths of a point.

Losses of 1 to 4 or more points were suffered by some issues of Allegheny Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corp., St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, and several other railroads.

International Telephone bonds were off as much as 3 points, but American Telephones and Western Unions were steady.

not care much for Asper's nervous condition.

"We'll have Ball in pretty soon now," Swergin growled.

"You missed a good chance last night." Dona could not refrain from rubbing it into the big timber boss.

This time Swergin shot an inquiring gaze at the girl.

She met his eyes smilingly and, with a frown, he turned to leave.

"I'll be back by noon," Dudley called from the door.

"If you don't stay in camp you'll be hauled back!" Swergin threatened.

Dudley smiled broadly. He was wondering if this was really to be his lucky day. Had he known what sundown would bring Dudley Winters might not have been able to muster that smile.

Ford Mines Quit

Ishpeming—Mining operations at the Ford Motor company's Blueberry and Imperial mines, the former 8 miles west of Ishpeming, and the latter a mile west of Michigamme, have been suspended on orders received by the mine officials yesterday.

Superintendents W. R. Doell, of the Blueberry, and M. E. Willmott, of the Imperial, said they were given no reasons for the closing of the properties.

HUNTERS LOST

Marquette—Roy Youngbluth and Harry Ferris, of Marquette, who became lost in the woods a few miles from Rumley while partridge hunting Sunday, spent Sunday night in an abandoned shack and Monday morning, after following a trail from the shack for seven or eight miles, they arrived at the Peter White camp near Deerton.

Newark Wins Series Game, 12-9; Millers Protest

UMP REVERSES VERDICT IN 9TH

Manager Bush and Rice Banned from Field During Argument

Minneapolis, Oct. 5 (AP)—Coming from behind in the last three innings, the Newark Bears today defeated the Minneapolis Millers 12 to 9 in the fifth game of the little world series, which was finished under protest by the American Association champions. The victory was the Bears' third with only one more needed to clinch the Class AA championship.

The protest came as the result of a play in the ninth inning, when with two out and Saltzgaver on third, Umpire Carroll ruled Neun out on a long fly to Harry Rice. The umpire, after a 40-minute argument with managers and players of both teams, reversed the decision, permitting Saltzgaver to score. Manager Al Mamaux of the Bears claimed Rice had dropped the ball, when he fell making the sensational catch.

Run Broke Tie

The Millers agreed to continue play under protest after Rice and Manager Donie Bush had been banned from the field.

The one run broke an 8-8 tie, following which Rolfe hit a home run, scoring Hargreaves and Neun. The protest will be referred to the advisory council.

Neither of the starting pitchers, Pete Jablonowski for the Bears and Jess Petty for the Millers, finished the game. Jablonowski lasted until the seventh when a five-run attack drove him and his successor, Jim Weaver, to the showers. Rufus Meadows and John Murphy finished the game.

Dorais-McEwan Friendly Feud Renewed Oct. 15

Detroit, Oct. 1 (NEA)—When the University of Detroit football squad meets Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass. on Oct. 15, a friendly rivalry that has lasted since 1909 will be renewed between Charles E. "Gus" Dorais, Detroit coach, and John J. McEwan, Holy Cross mentor.

It all started when McEwan scouted Dorais when that young feller was playing quarter for a high school squad. McEwan sent him to Minnesota for a tryout, but he proved too light. Young Dorais packed up his grip and left for Notre Dame, where he turned out to be one of the best quarters ever developed there.

In his senior year Dorais, captain of the Irish, took the team east and drubbed the Army. McEwan played center for the Cadets.

More than a decade passed before the two met again. Detroit, coached by Dorais, played the Army, directed by McEwan, four times, and got four drubbings.

Now the two meet again. McEwan is coach of Holy Cross, and the tangle between the two teams ought to be interesting. It looks as though Dorais has a chance to avenge those four defeats at the hands of the McEwan-coached Army.

Now read the Classified page.

TO BE, OR NOT TO BE

Perhaps the names of Al Smith and William Shakespeare will be further glorified after a couple of their namesakes finish doing daring football deeds for Notre Dame university. The Irish squad this year has Al Smith, Indianapolis boy, trying out for halfback. On the freshman squad is William Shapeskpeare of Port Richmond, N. Y., who claims direct descent from Bill, the Bard of Avon. Smith is shown on left and Shakespeare on right.

SPARTAN VETS BELOW FORM

Crowley Not Satisfied With Performance of His Squad

East Lansing, Oct. 5 (AP)—The task of bringing the Michigan State football varsity out of its lethargy went ahead today under game conditions but the Spartan gridders were far from their best form of the season.

After an hour of scrimmage the varsity somehow had scored five touchdowns while a freshman eleven failed to cross the varsity goal line. But the blocking, tackling and running of Coach James H. Crowley's men were far below his requirements.

The greatest surprise of the afternoon was the poor showing of Bob Monnett, co-captain and erstwhile iron-legged halfback. Monnet found himself unable to get under way all afternoon.

Abe Eliowitz, another co-captain and now the varsity fullback, was another offender at the first of the scrimmage. Eliowitz, whose punting in the Michigan game was the worst of his entire football career, had trouble driving down the field. Before the end of the scrimmage, however, the big Detroit boy had regained his stride and was hitting the line in much his same old manner.

Crowley indicated today that he may not abide by a previous move of attempting to make an end out of Francis Meiers, the veteran center. Crowley used Ed Klewicki at the disputed wing for the second successive night sending Meiers to center. Frank Butler later went in for Meiers but the latter was bothered by poor passes.

Alton Kircher remained at quarterback on the first team while Jerry Jones watched from the sidelines. The latter did not even see service on a second team which scrimmaged on another field. Russell Reynolds played at the other half most of the scrimmage although Bob Armstrong held down the job a great deal of the time.

In College Grid Camps

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 5. (AP)—Coach Dick Hanley, figuring the Michigan game will be a wide open affair, drilled his Northwestern Wildcats in a long passing scrimmage against the freshmen today. The varsity looked good, both offensively and defensively, with "Pug" Rentner starring. Thirty-three players were picked to make the Michigan trip.

Chicago, Oct. 5 (AP)—With prospects for a successful invasion of Yale, his old alma mater, Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg sent his players through a lively dummy scrimmage today to polish up the plays he plans to spring against old Eli.

Minneapolis, Oct. 5 (AP)—Bernie Bierman trained Francis "Pug" Lund on throwing forward passes again today in preparation for likely aerial attack against Purdue Saturday. The rookie halfback gave quite a fair exhibition in the drill.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 5. (AP)—Iowa plays as demonstrated by the reserves were only moderately successful against the Wisconsin varsity today as Coach Clarence Spears drove the Badgers through a long scrimmage.

Columbus, O., Oct. 5. (AP)—Hampered by bad weather in their preparation for the game Saturday with Indiana, Ohio State University gridders today completed the last hard practice for the opening western conference contest.

American Netters Leave For Tour

San Francisco, Oct. 5 (AP)—America's national and Wimbledon tennis champion, Ellsworth Vines, sailed today on the liner Mauri with three teammates to match strokes with the leading players of Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand.

The rangy Pasadena youth, holder of the major titles of the game, was accompanied by John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, his teammates on the Davis cup team, and Keith Gledhill, with whom he won the national doubles title.

Whether the quartet will play a series in Japan will be determined later. At present Vines said, the schedule does not call for appearances in the Orient.

They will spend eight days in Honolulu, traveling from there to Australia. They will go to New Zealand the latter part of January and are slated to reach the United States March 1.

Vines was accompanied by his recent bride while the wives of Van Ryn and Allison also were in the party.

GRIFFITH SEEKS A NEW MANAGER

Who Will Succeed Johnson as Head of Senators?

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Three members of the Washington ball team were mentioned today in fandom's gossip over the successor to Walter Johnson as manager.

A number of those trying to read the mind of Clark Griffith, owners of the Senators, seemed to feel that Joe Judge, veteran first baseman, was the favorite for the position. Others talked of another veteran, Sam Rice, outfielder. Still others felt Griffith might follow the precedent established in naming young "Bucky" Harris some years ago and offer Joe Cronin, star shortstop, the post. The name of Harris, now manager of the Detroit Tigers, was also heard occasionally in the outpour of speculation.

Griffith, who announced last night that Johnson would not lead the team next season, gave neither confirmation nor denial to the gossip. He said he was still uncertain as to his choice.

Johnson, manager since 1929 and one of the game's best pitchers before he quit the ranks, had not returned to his home today. Members of his family said he was still in Baltimore. There were rumors he might lead the Baltimore Orioles of the International league next year. This was denied, however, by the club officials.

Both Judge and Rice have been with the tetam since 1915. The former, until this year the club's regular first baseman, has been frequently spoken of as managerial timber. Cronin is only 26 but he led the Senators on the field this year and his admirers say his aggressiveness turned many a close game.

NOT MODERN

London—Instead of going forward, the city of Westminster is content with living in the past, according to recent action of the city council. It contracted for the lighting of about 55 miles of the city streets by gas for the next 15 years, giving no consideration to the modern lighting medium, electricity.

MAROONS SET FOR ESKYMOS

Menominee Expects to Make it Six in Row Over Local Team

Menominee, Oct. 5 (Special)—Menominee and Escanaba high schools will clash on the gridiron for the thirty-sixth time Saturday afternoon on Walton Blesch field. The football rivalry between the two schools is one of the oldest in the state and by far the oldest in the peninsula.

The game is always the highlight of the Maroons' upper peninsula schedule, ranking second in local fan interest only to the Menominee-Marinette game.

In the 36 meetings of the Maroon and White and Orange and Black, Escanaba has won 14 games and the Maroons have won 18 games. In recent years the Maroons have held the upper hand.

nominee on the gridiron in five nomine on the gridiron in five years, but the last victory of the Eskymos was a memorable one. The Delta county eleven in 1926 staged a track meet; defeated Menominee 21-0.

Menominee, however, has taken sweet and prolonged revenge for that larruping. The Maroons the next year traveled to Escanaba and defeated the Eskymos, 12-0. The following year, 1928, the Eskymos came to Menominee to take another drubbing, 13-0.

In the return game at Escanaba in 1929 Menominee's great point-a-minute eleven, strongest eleven ever to wear Maroon colors, defeated Escanaba 28-0. The following year Escanaba took an even worse drubbing on Walton Blesch field. The Maroons scored 38 points while holding Escanaba scoreless. Escanaba, in fact, has not scored on the Maroons in five years, which is a long time for any man's football team.

Last year at Escanaba the Maroons won, 12-0.

Big Scores Feature

The record of football games between Menominee and Escanaba is featured by the size of the scores, most of the large ones on the Maroon side of the ledger. Menominee won in 1897, 48-0; in 1911, 34-0; in 1912, 53-0, largest score in history of the rivalry; in 1914, 40-0; in 1917, 35-6; and in 1922, 33-0.

Escanaba's greatest victories were in 1902, 33-0; and in 1926, 21-0.

Menominee looms as the stronger team and favorite to win Saturday's match, which would make it six straight. This season the Maroons have been defeated by West Green Bay, 7-6, in a loose game, and have defeated Negaunee, 13-6, and Kingsford, 33-0.

Escanaba started its season on the left foot by losing to St. Joseph's Parochial high school of Escanaba, 20-6, but redeemed itself last Saturday by trouncing Marquette, which had been rated good, 13-0.

Menominee is not looking for a set-up Saturday, but the Maroons are expected to take the field in full force and set to win. "Six Straight" is their slogan and they want to increase the lead which the local teams have built up in the long rivalry between the schools. In their 35 games, Menominee has scored 387 points, Escanaba 182 points.

WHAT NOW FOR RUTH, M'GRAW?

Baseball Figures Center of Discussion About 1933 Plans

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—The close of the 1932 major league baseball campaign today was followed by developments concerning two of the most famous figures the game has had in New York—George Herman Ruth and Joseph McGraw.

They had no connection with each other but—

The Babe, before hustling out to a golf course, declared he saw no reason why he should not play regularly in the outfield for the Yankees in 1933, to round out his 20th full season in the major leagues.

And McGraw, whose name has been linked with the effort of Montreal sportsmen to buy a major league franchise, made it known definitely through friends that he has no idea now of returning to an active role in baseball.

Babe Ruth changed his mind about playing golf and decided to have a round with friends despite the painful effects of being hit in the hand by a pitched ball, thrown by Guy Bush, in the fourth game of the world series.

In Good Spirits

"The swelling has gone down considerably but for the time being I won't take any bets on what my golf score will be," complained the Babe.

Otherwise Ruth came out of his tenth world series in good condition and high spirits. He experienced no further trouble with his appendix, which put him under his doctor's care shortly before the series.

The slugger told friends he thought the series was the easiest of the three the Yankees won with a clean sweep.

In due time, in Florida he probably will enter a discussion about 1933 salary terms with Col. Jacob Ruppert. The Babe took a $5,000 "cut" last spring signing for $75,000 for the 1932 season only.

Although he lost the home run championship to Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics, due partly to two periods of illness, Ruth had a good year. The consensus is he will not likely be asked to sign for less than $65,000 or $70,000 for next year.

Ruth plans to leave on a hunting trip within a few weeks, probably in North Carolina, with a party of friends. Otherwise he and his family will remain in New York until starting for the training camp at St. Petersburg, Florida, in February.

McGraw's interest in Canada's bid for a major league berth has consisted merely of friendly assistance to the negotiators, Leo Dandurand and Joseph A. Gattarinich, Montreal sportsmen who have extensive hockey, boxing and horse racing interests, in the United States as well as Canada.

Seek Franchise

The former manager of the New York Giants has not otherwise figured in the negotiations, nor has he the slightest idea now of returning to the game in any capacity.

Overtures to both St. Louis baseball clubs have been definitely turned down. After finding they could make no deal with Philip D. Bell, owner of the Browns, the Canadians approached Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, only to find that the headquarters club of baseball's most extensive "farm system" is not for sale.

Dandurand and Gattarinich, it is understood, have substantial backing for their proposed undertaking, together with a stadium seating 33,000 which they can ease for big league baseball. So far, however, they have found all major league franchises well anchored, even though several have been hard hit financially. Montreal now has a profitable club in the International league.

REGULARS GET LIGHT WORKOUT

Kipke Figures Too Much Labor Will Result In Staleness

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—Members of the Michigan varsity football squad who did not see much service last Saturday engaged in scrimmage against the freshmen this afternoon, but the regulars were let off with a drill on plays for use against Northwestern and instruction on defense against Wildcat plays. Coach Harry Kipke believes the team showed last weekend that it has come along far enough and must avoid hard work for fear of staleness.

Coach Charles Hoyt, in charge of conditioning Michigan gridders is a firm believer in this procedure. Hoyt believes if a player is in good physical condition, he doesn't need a great amount of work during the week.

Heston Gets Nod

With the exception of guards and tackles, Michigan's lineup for Northwestern is about settled. There is no doubt that Petoskey and Williamson will be at ends and Bernard at center.

Heston, on account of his defensive ability, continues to get the call over Herm Everhardus at halfback.

The backfield that faces Northwestern at the start Saturday probably will be the same as that which faced Michigan State with Newman at quarter, Heston and Fay at the halves and Regeczi fullback.

If Wistert is in shape, he probably will start at left tackle with Damm at right tackle. There is little to choose between Damm, Hildebrand and Austin. Hildebrand will be held in reserve for Wistert while Austin probably will relieve Damm during course of the game.

Now that he is back in good physical condition, Cecil Cantrill letterman from last year, is contesting for the regular guard berth with Kowalik and Marcovsky. Kipke is undecided as to his two guards as it is hard to decide between Kowalik, Cantrill and Marcovsky. Savage, another guard, who played a whale of a game in the last quarter Michigan State, probably will see service against Northwestern.

CAUSE OF JEALOUSY

Berlin—If your wife or sweetheart is jealous of you, it's probably because she has too much iodine in her blood, Scientists here have come to that conclusion after determining that the blood of a jealous woman often contains 100 per cent more iodine than that of a woman who isn't inclined toward jealousy.

Stream Improvement Necessary To Make Better Trout Fishing

Michigan's fisheries activities have been driving a four cylinder automobile with only three cylinders operating and if speed is expected toward the goal of better trout fishing the fourth cylinder, stream improvement, should be given more than an occasional sputter. This is the way the Institute for Fisheries Research in its recently published booklet on methods for trout stream improvement describes the present trout increase program.

Three methods have been used in the past for bettering trout fishing — introduction, propagation and protection, the bulletin says. "With the ever increasing depletion of the trout, it is becoming increasingly difficult to maintain the supply, in spite of all the improved and extended methods of fish culture and in spite of all the carefully conceived and vigorously enforced legal restrictions."

The booklet, written by Director Carl L. Hubbs, John R. Greeley and Clarence M. Tarzwell of the Institute Staff is designed to assist those interested in stream improvement work. This work is described as "the creation and maintenance of conditions more conducive to the survival, growth and reproduction of trout in streams."

Long and frequent sections of many Michigan trout streams stand in need of improvement and experience has now indicated that their improvement is entirely practicable. The Institute, through its researches has come to the conclusion that very few if any of the state's fishable trout waters are now yielding the maximum crop of trout which they are capable of producing. The booklet is based on the experiments and conclusions of the Institute in stream improvement work and all known methods are described and pictured.

Not weak—MILD!

If you have been mistaking a monotonous, flat taste for "mildness," turn to El Producto and get the true meaning of this much abused word. True mildness is anything but monotonous. It is achieved by the use of choice tobaccos exclusively. Add to this the uncopyable El Producto blend and you have the distinctive tang that just cannot be duplicated any other way. Try El Producto just once and you'll buy El Producto thereafter.

ORE SHIPMENTS ARE CONTINUED

Escanaba Docks Load Out Four Boats for This Week

Four ore boats are clearing this week from the C. & N. W. docks at Escanaba, with cargoes of iron ore for Detroit and Cleveland. The Paine, due yesterday, was to clear for Cleveland, and the Henry Ford, due last night, was destined for Detroit. The Glen Eagle, is booked for today, and her destination will be Cleveland. Saturday, the Gallagher is scheduled to take a cargo to Detroit.

During the month of September, shipments of ore from the local docks totalled 37,636 tons, according to figures compiled by the Lake Superior Iron Ore Association. Of this total 15,627 was credited to the North Western road, and 22,009 to the Milwaukee road. Up to October 1, shipments from the Escanaba docks totalled 185,517 tons, as compared with 1,196,831 for the same period in 1931.

The 1932 decrease from all upper lake ports was 17,561,613, or 88.02 per cent. Total shipments from all upper lake ports so far this season were 2,391,155 tons.

Fair and Warmer, Says Weather Man

With warmer weather forecast for today, Escanaba's first snowfall was destined to be short-lived. The first sample of the season was mixed with rain Tuesday afternoon, and a few flakes fell during the squalls Wednesday afternoon. Points across the bay reported snow Tuesday night.

Fair and warmer weather is promised for today by the weather bureau at Escanaba, and the fresh northwest winds of the last day or two will be diminishing. Frosts were reported in some sections last night.

Yom Kippur Next Jewish Fast Day

On Monday, October 10th, the Jews will observe the Day of Atonement. This Holy Day is the most sacred and important in the Jewish calendar and is kept solemnly as a day of fasting and prayer by all the Jews of the world. It begins at sunset, Sunday night, October 9th, and ends with sun-down on the following day.

The Day of Atonement is the supreme holy day of the Jewish religion. It touches the heart of all the Jews and exercises upon them an influence unapproached by any of their other important holy days. It is, above all others, the one day on which they lay aside their earthly affairs in the house of God amid fasting and prayer.

Queen Goes Afoot To Last Rites for Homeless Soldier

Sant' Anna Di Valdieri, Italy (AP)—A common soldier had in a sense a royal burial here when Queen Elena of Italy followed his remains to the grave on foot.

The soldier met his death when a truck carrying himself and three others ran off the road near the summer residence of the royal family here and overturned.

Hearing of the accident, the queen visited the three injured soldiers in the hospital. There she learned that the dead soldier would be buried without anyone to attend the funeral because his parents and all known relatives were dead.

"Then," said Elena, "I myself will be a mother for him."

Thus it was that the next morning the queen and her whole court came to the village church for the funeral mass and then followed the coffin to the cemetery.

WALKED WITH WALK

Toledo, Ohio—What good two sections of sidewalk would do anyone is beyond Mayor Add Thacher, but it remains that someone stole them from Huron street near Madison avenue. After the theft the following appeared in a local paper: "If the party who stole two sections of pavement from Huron street near Madison avenue will return the pavement no questions will be asked by Mayor Add Thacher except name, address, record, and why, for goodness sakes, did he steal it."

Doctors in the wilderness of central Alaska are often called out on a 10-day trip by dog sled.
